

Dear All:

I hope you enjoyed today's talk on Richard Rodgers without Hammerstein. Really a wonderful composer who worked with two great lyricists. As promised, here are some links related to the talk, many of which we saw already (at least in excerpt form).

Excellent interview (about 1/2 hour) with Rodgers in mid-1970s :

Here is Ella in "My Funny Valentine" (with lyrics) from a live performance -- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=OgDnLPPCviQ>

Let me give you the uncensored version of "Bewitched" - pretty raunchy and cleaned up for most recordings after the Broadway show "Pal Joey" in 1940 -- Here is the original version with American opera singer Frederica von Stade as part of her great Rodgers and Hart album -
- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZOPnEwdOqPQ>. The show recording of the song is here from a 1952 revival - <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=G40fWgQEzbQ>

And here is the Madeline Kahn version we saw today... <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dd5-2IMwALA>

Frederica von Stade in "Falling in Love with Love" : <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JSbRG1PKyE>
