HAPPY 40TH ANNIVERSARY!

This 2022 February Shorts and Spring Catalog marks the beginning of a special year—our 40th anniversary. In 1982, OLLI at AU’s predecessor organization started as the Institute for Learning in Retirement (ILR). It offered 11 courses for 80 members. Forty years later, OLLI at AU will offer over 250 classes to over 1,600 members during this year.

The excitement and inspiration of ILR as a volunteer membership organization with intellectually stimulating peer-led study groups that encourages a sense of community remain the beating heart of OLLI at AU today. Much has happened over these 40 years, complete with setbacks, detours, forward surges, and, more currently, lingering uncertainty. From early space constraints to joining the Osher network, and from moving to our current home to transitioning to a virtual format, OLLI at AU has not only endured, but it has become stronger. This past fall, we returned to limited in-person classes and had our largest enrollment ever.

As for the upcoming sessions’ offerings, we are all—Curriculum Committee, Study Groups Leaders, Board, and Staff—excited. We have 33 February Shorts and 23 new SGLs for February and spring, who will introduce new subjects, ideas, and perspectives. Perhaps most exciting, slightly more than half of our classes will be in-person. This is an important step for our community to return to “normal.” In the Fall Semester, we welcomed you to the “New Normal.” Think of the Spring Semester as the “New Normal: Version 2.0.” This means continuing to follow the University’s Covid-related protocols: any person attending in-person, OLLI-related classes must be fully vaccinated, including a booster shot, and be masked.

We know you will enjoy the course offerings on the following pages. Once you winnow down your choices, be sure to register for February Shorts by January 13 and for spring by February 15. We have resumed the $300 semester fee that was reduced during the early days of the pandemic. In addition to all the other benefits of OLLI at AU membership, we will continue to offer access to all recorded classes for the semester.

We have come a long way since those first classes in 1982, and we have much to celebrate. It’s been 40 years of innovations, opportunities and challenges, and successes. And if the past two years have taught us anything, we know that OLLI at AU is ready for what comes next. Indeed, OLLI’s future is bright. We will grow and adapt to a changing world while holding true to what is most important to us—being a community of lifelong learners.

MISSION

The Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (OLLI) at American University is an association of, by, and for the people in the Washington, DC area who wish to continue to study and learn.

OLLI at AU is dedicated to the proposition that learning is a lifelong process and that curiosity never retires.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY

OLLI does not discriminate on the basis of race, gender, age, religious preference, national origin, or sexual orientation.

INCLEMENT WEATHER

We follow American University’s weather policy. If an online OLLI class is scheduled, it will still be held. If an in-person or hybrid OLLI class is scheduled, and AU has a delayed opening, 9:45 AM classes are cancelled and the 11:45 AM and 1:45 PM classes are held. If AU is closed, OLLI is also closed and all classes are cancelled.
WHAT IS OLLI AT AU?
Drawing on the talent and experience of seniors in the Washington, DC area, the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (OLLI) at American University offers a unique opportunity to continue learning at the university level. Members come from varied social, economic, and career backgrounds, ranging from business, academia, and homemaking to education, the arts, and government service. What they have in common is a genuine interest in continuing their learning experiences and intellectual stimulation by participation in an organization with other “seasoned learners.” There are no educational prerequisites for membership in OLLI.

Learning Community
The basic concept of the program is that of peer learning and teaching designed, specifically, for people who are 50 years of age or older. Members participate fully in study groups through preparation for, and involvement in, discussions on a wide variety of subjects. There are no tests and no grades; members participate purely for the joy of learning. Members are encouraged to discuss the possibility of leading a study group with members of the Curriculum Committee and by participating in our Study Group Leader Training Orientation.

Membership Involvement
Members become involved not only as study group leaders or representatives but also as participants on an elected board and appointed committees. As a democratic membership organization, OLLI depends on the volunteer services of its members. Members are strongly encouraged to participate in one or more of the following:

The Board of Directors and its various committees develop and implement policies, procedures, and activities designed to enhance the overall program.

Study Group Leaders (SGLs) are members with special expertise or interests who wish to share these with other members by designing and leading study groups. They are entitled to free classes during the semester they lead a group or the following semester.

HOW IS OLLI AT AU ORGANIZED?
OLLI at AU is an independent, 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization incorporated in Washington, DC, and is part of the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute National Network, which now includes 125 Institutes in all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

Support of OLLI at AU
Membership fees ($300 this semester) support the program. OLLI is further supported by an endowment from the Osher Foundation given to, and managed by, American University. OLLI receives a percentage of the interest from the endowment annually to assist in funding OLLI’s operations.

The Friends of OLLI Fund, established by the Board of Directors, is a reserve fund helping OLLI maintain affordable tuition, expand and enhance its physical facilities, and develop innovative and diverse programs.

THE ABCs OF OLLI

Accessibility
OLLI makes every effort to accommodate members with visual and hearing impairments. We provide documentation in large print format, ask our Study Group Leaders to turn on captions for all videos, and offer technical support. We continue to research and monitor Zoom and its third-party providers to identify additional plug-ins for captioning, transcription, etc. Please contact the office if you need accommodations to access classes, handouts, or any OLLI materials.

Adding or Dropping Study Groups
Members may add, drop, or change study groups through the second week of a semester.

Books
Books are available through Politics and Prose bookstore at 5015 Connecticut Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20008, 202-364-1919 or http://politics-prose.com online. Books also can be ordered online (often at reduced prices) or purchased at other book stores. The following are some online suggestions for purchasing books, in alphabetical order:

Contact Information
Please log into your OLLI account to ensure your contact information, including home and cell telephone number(s), email, as well as emergency contact name and relationship, are current and accurate.

Directory of Members
We publish a member directory each semester listing members’ names, addresses, phone numbers, and emails. Please fill out this section of the registration form carefully. The directory is available online to download during the second week of class. Printed copies are available upon request.

Email and E-Newsletter
We use email as our primary means of communication. Please make sure that you check your email several times per week during the semester. Also we send a weekly newsletter via email.

Fourth Study Group
After class assignment letters are emailed to members on Jan. 14 for February Shorts and on Feb. 17 for the Spring semester, members may login to the website to add a free fourth study group or email the office at olli@american.edu. You can only add a fourth study group after class assignment letters have been emailed to all members.
Hearing Loops
All of OLLI’s classrooms are equipped with hearing loops, a state-of-the-art assistive listening technology. Most recent hearing aids are equipped with a t-coil. Your audiologist can tell you whether or not your hearing aid has a t-coil and, if it does, your audiologist can activate the t-coil.

With the t-coil turned on, a member can hear others in the room very clearly. Members who do not have hearing aids or who have hearing aids without t-coils, can use a loop receiver with a headset, to benefit from the loop. Each classroom is supplied with a number of loop receivers.

Lecture Series
We offer four Lecture Series throughout the year. During each semester there is a lecture on Fridays from 1:30-2:30 PM. In January and May, there are lectures on various weekday mornings from 10:00-11:00 AM.

Lost and Found
There is a lost and found box in the OLLI office. Please check there if you have misplaced something.

Lunchtime Options
There is a cafeteria on the 6th floor which serves hot and cold breakfast and lunch. Members can also brown bag lunch with OLLI friends in one of the social spaces on the 5th floor. Buy lunch to carry out or eat in at Le Pain Quotidien, Millie’s, Starbucks, or Wagshal’s Market — all within one block of 4801 Massachusetts Ave. NW.

Membership Fee
The fee paid each semester (or for the full academic year) is a membership fee. It allows members to take from one to three study groups for the semester. The fee is NOT a fee per study group. The membership fee entitles you to all of the benefits of membership at OLLI at AU.

Minis
Minis are study groups held once-a-week for four weeks during the month of June. Each day’s session in the four weeks is 1½ hours long.

Identification in Classes
For in-person and hybrid classes, please wear your OLLI nametag. Lanyards and plastic nametag holders are available in the hallway outside the office.

For online classes, click on the Participants Panel and rename yourself with your full name so that the Study Group Leader can call on you.

Parking
See page 5.

Privacy Policy
OLLI at American University is highly sensitive to the privacy interests of members and believes that the protection of those interests is one of its most significant responsibilities. We publish the member directory as a courtesy to members. We expect members to respect other members’ privacy. The directory is not to be shared with others outside of OLLI. If you have questions about this policy, please contact us by phone at 202-895-4860 or email at olli@american.edu.

Recordings
Any member with a payment record for the academic session may view any recorded courses from that session. You do not have to be a class participant to view recordings. Visit our website at http://olli-dc.org to view recordings throughout each session.

Refunds
The office must receive requests for refunds by the deadline specified on the second page of the catalog, opposite the table of contents. A $10 processing fee will be assessed.

Shorts
We offer February and July Shorts, three- to five-day immersion study groups. Each day’s session is 1½ hours long.

Scholarships
If you need scholarship assistance, please download and complete the scholarship request form on the website. All requests are confidential.

Semesters
OLLI at AU has two regular academic semesters: Spring, which begins in March, and Fall, which begins in September. Semester study groups run from 8 to 10 weeks long. Each class session is 1½ hours long.

Serendipities!
OLLI at AU members and their friends are invited to give a talk or presentation to the OLLI membership as part of our Serendipities! program. Serendipities! are scheduled through the OLLI office and are currently being held remotely via Zoom.
Special Events
OLLI will continue to offer tours and trips, virtually if necessary, depending on the pandemic. These are arranged by Tammy Belden, Trips Coordinator. Please contact the office if you have a suggestion for a virtual trip or tour.

Spring Valley Building (SVB)
American University and OLLI at AU refer to 4801 Massachusetts Ave. NW as the Spring Valley Building (SVB).

Texting
Sign up to receive text messages regarding delayed openings, closings, cancelled classes, etc.

1. Login to your account. Click on “Edit Account” in the menu on the left. Add your cell phone number to your account if it is not there, then click “Submit.” A blank page titled “Overview” appears.

2. Click on “Text Messaging.” Click on the blue button that reads “Opt In for Text Messaging.” You will receive a text to confirm.

3. Reply “YES.” You can opt out at any time.

Transfers
Membership in OLLI is not transferable. Spouses or partners must have their own individual memberships.

Trips
Each academic year we try to offer several trips for members. Typically, buses are provided. Trips sometimes include boxed lunches or meals at a restaurant. Trip destinations have included:

- Arlington Cemetery
- National Cathedral
- Museum of the American Revolution
- Virginia Museum of Fine Arts

During the pandemic while we have been unable to travel, we have offered virtual tours:

Vending Machines
There are vending machines with water, soda, and snacks on the 4th and 6th floors.

Waitlists
If a seat opens in a class which has a waitlist, members will be contacted by staff and offered a seat in the order in which they appear on the waitlist.

Weather Policy for Class Cancellation
We follow American University’s weather policy. If an online OLLI class is scheduled, it will still be held. If an in-person or hybrid OLLI class is scheduled, and AU has a delayed opening, 9:45 AM classes are cancelled and the 11:45 AM and 1:45 PM classes are held. If AU is closed, OLLI is also closed and all classes are cancelled.

Website
Please visit the OLLI website at http://ollidc.org:

- to view our calendar, including lecture series and events;
- to register for classes and to pay membership dues with a credit card in an encrypted, secure transaction;
- to add, drop, or change classes; to request a refund; to volunteer; and/or
- to make a donation.

Wi-Fi
Wi-Fi at OLLI is free. The Network Name is AUGuest-ByRCN. No password is required.
PARKING & TRANSIT

Public Transportation
Visit the Parking & Transit page on our website at https://www.ollidc.org/parking_transit for up-to-date information on using public transportation to attend OLLI activities.

Parking
Parking is available in the garage beneath 4801. In accordance with DC regulations and AU’s “Good Neighbor Policy,” all members of the AU community — including OLLI members — are required to park in AU lots while attending OLLI. Parking on the street while attending OLLI likely will result in a $200 parking ticket from AU. For full parking information, visit the Parking & Transit page at https://www.ollidc.org/parking_transit on our website.

Parking Payment Options
Parking is $2 per hour. You must pay for parking BEFORE class. In order to pay, you must know your vehicle’s license plate number.

You may pay for parking:
- with credit card or cash at the kiosks located on each parking level, or
- by credit card using a smartphone and the PayByPhone app (see below), or
- with a credit card by calling PayByPhone at 888-450-7275.

How to Pay By Phone
Dial 888-450-7275. The first time, you will be prompted to:
- Enter your cell phone number
- Create a 4-digit pin number
- Enter your 16-digit credit card number
- Enter your 4-digit expiration date
- Enter the 4-digit location code for Spring Valley Garage: 4889
- Enter your license plate number.
- Enter the number of hours you want to park.

AU SHUTTLE BUS

For full information on the shuttle service, go to: http://american.edu/finance/facilities/shuttle.cfm on AU’s website.

The AU shuttle buses are kneeling buses and are handicapped accessible.

A free, open-to-the-public AU shuttle bus leaves regularly from the Tenley Metro station, makes stops at the Katzen Center, and then at the Spring Valley Building (4801 Massachusetts Ave. NW), where OLLI is located. To return to the Katzen Center Garage or the Metro, catch the shuttle at the shuttle bus stop behind 4801 Massachusetts Ave. NW.

How to Use the PayByPhone App
You can download the free “PayByPhone” app from the App Store or Google Play Store to pay for parking via your smartphone.

The first time you need to:
- Enter your cell phone number
- Create a 4-digit pin number
- Enter your 16-digit credit card number
- Enter your 4-digit expiration date
- Enter the 4-digit location code for Spring Valley Garage: 4889
- Enter your license plate number.
- Enter the number of hours you want to park.
REGISTRATION PROCESS

Registrations are due by 8:00 AM Tues., Feb. 15, for the Spring Lottery. Class sizes are determined by Study Group Leaders’ requests, classroom capacity, and the office. If a study group is oversubscribed on Lottery Day, registrations in that class are subjected to a random, computerized lottery. Members who are not selected for said study group are put on the waitlist and will be emailed by the office if space becomes available. Class assignment letters will be emailed by Thurs., Feb. 17.

We will continue to accept registrations on a space-available basis through the second week of the semester. OLLI reserves the right to cancel any study group. Members registered in a study group that is cancelled will be notified immediately so that they may select an available alternate.

JOIN OLLI AT AU

You may join OLLI, pay for membership, register for study groups, and donate to OLLI, all at once. To do so, complete the form on the following pages. Mail the form to the address on the form with a check made payable to OLLI. Or register online at http://olli-dc.org to pay with a credit card in an encrypted, secure transaction.

To register, you will need to create a user account. Follow the steps below to do so.

1. Go to http://www.OLLI-DC.org
   Click on “Membership” in the menu at the top of the page.
   A submenu appears. Click on “Join OLLI.”
2. A new screen appears titled “Join OLLI.” Click on “create an account” in the first paragraph.
3. Fill in the contact information form including entering a username and password. Write your username and password below. If you lose your username, the OLLI office can give it to you. If you forget your password, you can reset it or ask the office to do so.
   Username ___________________________
   Password ___________________________
4. Follow the instructions under Register for Study Groups.

REGISTER FOR STUDY GROUPS

1. Identify the number of study groups you are interested in taking. You must select 1, 2, or 3.
2. Prioritize up to 12 study groups based on your preference for taking the study groups.
   (1 = highest priority and 12 = lowest priority).
   If the class is hybrid, be sure to include your desired format, in-person or online. If you are willing to attend either in-person or online, be sure to list each format for the class. See the example on the registration form.
   Note: Prioritize your study groups by whichever method works best for you: subject matter, time/day, location, or Study Group Leader. Even if you mark that you only want to take one study group, you may still prioritize up to 12 study groups. When the system processes your registration, it will assign you to your highest priority study groups that are available.
   Note: All members have an equal chance at getting into a class. There is no restriction if a member has taken a Study Group or Study Group Leader previously.
3. Submit your registration.
4. You will receive email confirmation of your pending registration.
5. After Lottery Day, you will receive by email your class assignment letter.
   Through the second week of classes, you can change your schedule online or by emailing the office.
   You may register online for a fourth course AFTER you have received your class assignment letter.
   Study group leaders spend a prodigious amount of time preparing their classes. Please attend the classes for which you are registered and only the classes for which you are registered.

CLASS FORMATS: IN-PERSON, ONLINE & HYBRID

This semester, OLLI is offering classes in three formats: Online Only, In-Person Only, and Hybrid. In hybrid classes, the SGL and some members of the class are in-person while other members participate via Zoom. In the catalog, each course description lists the format. When registering for a hybrid class, you must select whether you want to attend in-person (Hybrid In-Person) or by Zoom (Hybrid Zoom). List both formats if the class is a priority and you’re willing to attend either format. Given the greater number of options, you can now prioritize up to 12 classes for the lottery, instead of just six. As always, the lottery will then assign you to up to three classes.

You may register online for a fourth course AFTER you have received your class assignment letter.
REGISTER FOR STUDY GROUPS

1. SELECT whether you want to register for 1, 2, or 3 study groups. Check only one box: ☐ 1  ☐ 2  ☐ 3

2. List up to 12 study groups in priority order. A hybrid class has both in-person and online members. If you want a hybrid class, you must write either “Hybrid In-Person” or “Hybrid Zoom” as the Format, depending on which you prefer. If you wish to attend the class regardless of the format, be sure to list both formats. Please see the sample below in which 655 is a hybrid class and the member wants to attend regardless of format.

Reading: 1-2 hrs/week.

A Passion for Justice and An Interpretation of the US Constitution

ARNOLD LEIBOWITZ
Eight Fridays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 11
Online
For study group description and Study Group Leader's bio, see 750.
This study group is not a repeat.
Class Format: Lecture
Reading: No required reading.

105: The March of Folly: Why Governments Do Stupid [Stuff]

MARK NADEL
Eight Wednesdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 09
In-Person
This course borrows its title from the book of the same name by Barbara Tuchman, which analyzed why governments continually violate President Obama’s adage, “Don’t do stupid s---t.” This study group will review cases where decisionmakers pursued courses of action that blew up in their faces (sometimes literally) despite warnings, and despite better alternatives. Cases will include the Vietnam and Iraq wars, the COVID pandemic, as well as misadventures by private actors such as physicians. We will read about root causes of folly and discuss whether and how decisions can be made more prudently.
This study group has a photocopying charge between $5-20, to be paid in class.

Class Format: Reading and Discussion
Reading: 1-2 hrs/week.
Mark Nadel has led various OLLI study groups on public policy and governance. In addition to a career at the Government Accountability Office, he has also taught at Cornell University, Johns Hopkins, the University of Maryland, and Georgetown, where he taught a graduate course on decisionmaking for public policy.

113: Shakespeare’s Political Theory

STEPHEN ELKIN
Eight Tuesdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 08
In-Person
The course treats Shakespeare as a political theorist. Among his plays are some of the most subtle reflections on political life including some that have a remarkable bearing on our present political condition. The course will start with Stephen Greenblatt’s deeply intelligent book, Tyrant. We will then read some of the great political plays: Richard III, Macbeth, Julius Caesar, and either King Lear or Coriolanus. We will conclude by comparing Shakespeare’s understanding of political life with that of his great predecessor (and teacher?) Machiavelli.
This study group is not a repeat.
Class Format: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: 2-3 hrs/week.
Stephen Elkin has a PhD from Harvard and has taught at Smith College, the University of Pennsylvania, and the University of Maryland.

145: Platforms vs. Governments—The Emerging Clash

LEWIS COHEN
Eight Tuesdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 08
In-Person
Digital platforms—think Google, Facebook, Amazon, etc.—are emerging as powerful challengers to the prerogatives of national governments. This course will explore the emergence of platforms and their unique characteristics. Since the boundaries between national governments and platforms are ill-defined or nonexistent, issues ranging from privacy to competition policy to cybersecurity have become headline news. This course will seek to establish a clearer picture of platforms, their political, economic, and legal impact, and the response of governments to platforms’ incursion into areas traditionally occupied by national governments.

Class Format: Reading and Discussion
Reading: 1-2 hrs/week.
Lewis Cohen earned degrees from Columbia College, Johns Hopkins University (SAIS), and Harvard University (Kennedy School). He was a Peace Corps Volunteer in Tunisia, a Foreign Service Officer and Trade Negotiator with the Office of the US Trade Representative, and a consultant on international trade for a major DC law firm.
148: James Madison: Political Theorist and Politician

RICHARD SCHUBERT
Nine Tuesdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 08
Hybrid

Although still less well-known than some other founders, Madison was a key figure: he was the driving force behind the Constitution, he authored the Bill of Rights, he strongly advocated for religious freedom, he was the leading figure in the first Congress, he was Secretary of State, and then President. And that is just the beginning. This course will deal with Madison’s political philosophy, what influenced him, and how he influenced others. There will also be significant biographical material. And we will examine his greatest failing: he was a slave owner. The eminent historian Jack Rakove calls him “the greatest lawgiver of modernity;” not all historians agree. What do you think?

This study group has a photocopying charge between $5-20, to be paid in class.

This study group is not a repeat.

Class Format: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: 1-2 hrs/week.

Richard Schubert has been interested in Madison for 40 years. Since his retirement, he has delved more deeply into the life of this remarkable man. Particularly at this current time when the whole idea of American representative democracy is under attack, Richard hopes to stimulate enthusiasm for Madison.

156: AU School of International Service—Foreign Policy Challenges for the Year Ahead

SUSAN ROLNICK, OLLI COORDINATOR
Eight Thursdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 10
Online

Professors from American University will explore topics related to foreign policy challenges facing the Biden Administration in the upcoming year. Topics will include: The US, Mexico, and North America; US Policy in Latin America; Economic Benefits of Biodiversity Conservation; Transatlantic Relations; US Middle East Policy; The Water Defenders: How Ordinary People Saved a Country from Corporate Greed; Can the US Shake the Intervention Habit?; and Post Brexit Challenges. This study group has a large capacity.

The American University School of International Service (SIS), produces cutting-edge research and prepares the next generation of leaders to address global challenges. SIS enrolls a diverse student body of approximately 3,000 undergraduate and graduate students from throughout the US and more than 150 countries, taught by nearly 120 full-time faculty members.

160: Unprecedented Challenges to Public Education: Inequality, Demographics, and Politics

MARTIN BLANK
MICHAEL USDAN
Eight Thursdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 10
Online

Public education is now on the front pages of our newspapers (and other media too). What should children read? What should they learn? Should public funds be used at parochial schools? These issues and other issues lead to even larger questions: Is the public education enterprise being lost? Is educating for Democracy no longer possible when Democracy itself is at risk? This course will examine these issues in the context of the basics of how public education is governed and financed, a changing student population, and persistent school segregation.

This study group is a repeat with revisions.

Class Format: Discussion
Reading: No required reading.

Martin Blank was Director of the Coalition for Community Schools and a consultant on numerous education and social policy issues. Michael Usdan is an educator with experiences as a public school and college teacher, state higher education commissioner, and president of a college, national non-profit, and city school board.

171: Current Events and Public Policy I

ARTHUR LEVINE
JEFFREY PORTER
LEONARD KING
LOUIS NEVINS
Eight Wednesdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 09
In-Person

Lou Nevins, Leonard King, Art Levine, and Jeffrey Porter will lead lively discussions and debates on current events and public policy issues, focusing largely, but not exclusively, on politics, law, economics, and foreign affairs. Discussion topics, outlines, suggested readings (if any), and questions will be furnished in advance, and participants are expected to follow the news closely. It is emphasized that this is a discussion class. Thus, participants are expected to take an active role in the conversations.

This study group is a repeat with revisions.

Class Format: Discussion
Reading: Less than 1 hr/week.

178: Thurgood Marshall: Trailblazing Legal Icon
RALPH BUGLASS
Eight Thursdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 10
Online
This course is an appreciative look at the life and legal career of Thurgood Marshall, led by a non-lawyer and based on several Marshall biographies. As a pioneering civil rights attorney, Marshall won a multitude of key Supreme Court cases, including its landmark decision overturning segregation—thus prodding the nation to live up to its founding ideals of equality for all. Later, as the high court’s first African-American justice (and the only one to have ever defended a murder suspect), he took an expansive view of the constitution, particularly in guaranteeing the legal rights of defendants, the poor, and women. But as the court turned right, he was often in dissent on his signature concern—racial equity.

This study group is not a repeat.
Class Format: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: 1-2 hrs/week.

Ralph Buglass has led several OLLI courses, including ones on racial justice. He also is a frequent speaker to community groups on local history topics. He has a BA in American history from Cornell University and an MA in journalism from AU.

180: Today’s Supreme Court: A Course for Citizens
PENNY HANSEN
Nine Tuesdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 08
In-Person
This study group will explore the important cases and decisions that continue to be made by the Supreme Court under Chief Justice John Roberts. Presentation material and discussion will focus on the major Constitutional issues being decided by a clearly activist and divided court on: elections, health care, gun control, diversity, equality, climate change, the environment, religion, and presidential power. We will focus on the historical and political background of these issues and the legal philosophies of the justices, along with the procedural mysteries of this, the least well known of our three branches of government. We will read The Supreme Court: A Very Short Introduction by Linda Greenhouse and The Oath: The Obama White House and the Supreme Court by Jeffrey Toobin, along with articles on more recent cases and other supplementary material.

This study group is a repeat with revisions.
Class Format: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: 1-2 hrs/week.

Penelope Hansen directed numerous programs at the Environmental Protection Agency during its first 30 years, implementing the country’s first recycling, hazardous waste, Superfund, acid rain, and technology verification programs. She has devoted much of her retirement to studying the Supreme Court and has given OLLI classes on this and other subjects for the last eight years. She was educated at Skidmore College, Johns Hopkins University and the Kennedy School at Harvard.

200 PSYCHOLOGY, SOCIOLOGY, & CULTURE

200: The Neuroscience of Conflict
JEANINE HULL
Eight Fridays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 11
In-Person
This course will explore the amazing breakthroughs in the neuroscience of trauma and apply it to the study of conflict. Trauma and conflict are manifestations of the human threat response (“HTR”). Scientific understanding of the HTR has vastly increased over the past 20 years. This understanding, however, has not yet been applied to our understanding of conflict, how to engage in it, and in particular, the benefits that accrue from such engagement. The course includes a quick tour of the physiology of the HTR to understand how humans are “wired for connection” and what happens when the connection doesn’t happen. We will discuss the personal, interpersonal, and community applications of this new understanding.
This study group is not a repeat.
Class Format: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: No required reading.
Jeanine Hull, author of the book Making Peace with Conflict: Using Neuroscience to Ease Difficult Relationships, has been an attorney and mediator for the past 40 years. She has been counsel to a Congressional committee, Assistant General Counsel of a Fortune 300 energy company, and partner at Cantor Fitzgerald during her career.

201: Evolution of Mind
CATHARINE KEATLEY
Ten Tuesdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 08
Online
What is mind? What is consciousness? What are subjectivity and felt experience? Did they evolve along with our bodies like eyes and thumbs? If yes, how and why did these transitions occur? Do other animals have minds, feelings, consciousness? Peter Godfrey-Smith’s book, Metazoa, explores these questions through a review of major evolutionary changes in animals from the one-celled Last Unknown Common Ancestor, LUCA, who lived around 650 million years ago, to modern animals of different phyla. He brings together transitions in body plan, environment, and behavior to speculate on transitions in mental processes and the birth of mind. I will supplement with material from neuroscientists Damasio, Graziano, and LeDoux. This study group has a large capacity.

This study group is not a repeat.
Class Format: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: 2 hrs/week.
Catharine Keatley, PhD, has lectured at various universities overseas and in Washington, DC. She is a retired research psychologist who specialized in mental representation of language, bilingualism, and the psychology of learning languages. She previously taught a course on Theories of Consciousness at OLLI.

212: Asian Films: Culture, History, Politics
BILL HADDEN
RITA HADDEN
Eight Wednesdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 09
In-Person
Asian films often reflect the culture, history, or politics of these countries. They give us rarely seen glimpses of realities in some of those nations. The Japan of cherry blossoms and beautiful kimonos is not all we see in Shoplifters! In this study group, we will see key excerpts of eight films about eight Asian countries, and discuss what is exposed by these films, and why they matter in shaping our views of these countries. Possible films include: South Korea: Poetry; China: Coming Home; Vietnam: Scent of Green Papaya; India/Pakistan: Viceroy’s House; Japan: Shoplifters; Thailand: Bad Genius; Singapore: Crazy Rich Asians; Hong Kong: In the Mood for Love.
This study group is not a repeat.
Class Format: Discussion
Reading: No required reading.
Bill Hadden is a medical sociologist at the CDC and NIH. Rita and Bill have worked in China, Thailand, and Pakistan. They love films and cultures and speak multiple languages.
Rita Hadden is Chinese-American and lived in Southeast Asia, Hong Kong, and China. She was President of the Asian American Forum in Washington, and leads study groups on Asia at OLLI.

232: Workshop: Finding Your Family History
SUSAN GOODMAN
Eight Thursdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 10
Online
This workshop aims to help members begin finding and recording basic genealogy data (birth, death, and census material) using free resources in libraries and archives as well as the internet, and contacting other researchers working on related families. Members discuss user-friendly ways to share what they have found with their own families and others by creating DIY-printed booklets, as well as digital online photo albums, blogs, and audio recordings. Membership to Ancestry.com is suggested although not required. Members may opt to give the SGL access to their trees for help during class and by email after the end of the course. This study group is a repeat.
Class Format: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: No required reading.

Susan Goodman has been doing genealogy research as a hobby for 20 years. Before she retired, she worked as a journalist in print and radio, contributing features to NPR programs and news reports for WAMU.

240: Hearing Matters
JUDY ALDEN
Eight Thursdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 10
Online

Does hearing loss compromise your quality of life—or that of a friend or loved one? In this study group, we discuss hearing health and loss with a focus on communications accessibility and well-being. The National Institute on Deafness and Other Communications Disorders (NIDCD) reports 25% of seniors in their sixties, 50% in their seventies, and 80% in their eighties experience functionally significant hearing loss. Fewer than 30% of those who could benefit from hearing aids have used them. Treating hearing problems early is important for cognitive health, making it a public health concern for all, according to the National Academy of Sciences. Too often, people with hearing loss become unnecessarily isolated. The pandemic has worsened this problem: A Hearing Health Foundation survey finds 85% of hearing impaired individuals experienced more difficulty because face masks preclude lip-reading and muffle sounds. The good news is that rapidly emerging technology provides options for communications accessibility. Do you benefit from various voice to text apps? Understand how recent FDA regulations are changing the marketplace for those with mild-to-moderate loss, including over-the-counter and direct-to-consumer hearing aids? Use hearing assistive technology to enhance hearing aids? Know how to access technology in large, public venues such as Induction Loops, Infrared systems, and FM systems. Use free captions on Zoom? Join us to learn about these and many other resources and communications strategies to improve quality of life with hearing loss! This study group is a repeat with revisions.

Class Format: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: Less than 1 hr/week.

Judy Alden has severe, genetic and age-related hearing loss. She uses bilateral-power hearing aids. She is President of the Hearing Loss Association of America, DC Chapter. She is a cohort with the Network of Consumer Hearing Assistive Technology Trainers. Judy’s passion is to support those with hearing loss. She has a BS, MA, and MBA and is a former American University Kogod School of Business adjunct lecturer.

242: Marketing
MONICA BATRA
Eight Tuesdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 08
Online

From a big-picture view, what goes into making a big brand succeed? We will focus primarily on consumer packaged-goods companies and the tactics used to attract consumers, promises made to consumers, and the components that help big brands succeed. We will look at marketing and market-research concepts and view commercials as examples of how these concepts are achieved. Participants will also watch TED Talk videos on different marketing concepts from various people in marketing and discuss how these concepts apply in the marketing realm. There will be a look at social media as well and how it has impacted marketing. Other concepts to be explored include how big brands market to consumers, understand consumers, and create services and goods that consumers choose. This study group is a repeat with revisions.

Class Format: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: Less than 1 hr/week.

Monica Batra is a market research consultant who has worked at Consumer Packaged Goods companies including Procter & Gamble, Clorox, and Andrew Jergens, and a variety of technology start ups and B2B firms. Monica has taught and guest lectured at various graduate and undergraduate marketing courses at UC Berkeley, UCLA, University of San Francisco, and Kent State.

250: TED Talks
CAROLINE MINDEL
LYNN LEWIS
Eight Tuesdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 08
Online

TED Talks feature speakers who share their cutting-edge work across diverse fields; in short, their ideas are worth spreading. Our study group focuses on TED Talks spanning a wide range of issues, from personal growth and aging, to health and science, to society, community, and more. During our highly interactive sessions, we view and discuss two talks weekly. Participants are welcome to preview the talks beforehand, but it isn’t necessary as we screen them during class. We also ask for individual volunteers to prepare brief background and discussion points for each presenter. Note that while the class format is a repeat, the talks are new each semester. This study group is a repeat with revisions.

Class Format: Discussion
Reading: No required reading.

Caroline Mindel has a BA and an MSW in community organization from the University of Pennsylvania. She founded Mindel Management, Inc., a property-management business in DC.
Lynn Lewis received an undergraduate degree from the University of Michigan and an MA in journalism from Ohio State University. She has been a writer and editor for more than four decades.

252: Exploring Our Cultural Complexities

CARL WEICHEL
KIM WEICHEL
Eight Wednesdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 09

Online
As our world has become so complex with many rapid changes, our need for adaptability to change and appreciating nuance and ambiguity is far greater than ever. We'll explore current major issues through the superb documentary series “Explained,” produced by Vox-Netflix. Examining our inner world, we'll delve into mental-health aspects of memory and mindfulness. To better grasp our outer lives, topics range from the wealth gap, conspiracy theories, feeding our planet, and the global water crisis, to political correctness, social media, and more. Each theme will be enriched with class readings from journals, magazines, and newspapers, as well as class discussion. This study group has a large capacity.

This study group is a repeat with revisions.

Class Format: Lecture and Discussion

Reading: Less than 1 hr/week.

Carl Weichel has held various positions over his career in marketing, design, and advertising in Australia, South Africa, Canada, and the US. Carl has led study groups on Political Polarization, The 1960s, Our Hidden Brain, Eastern Religions, and David Brooks' Writings.

Kimberly Weichel is a social entrepreneur and nonprofit leader in the fields of women's leadership, cross-cultural dialogue, citizen diplomacy, and peacebuilding. She has co-led OLLI courses on The UN, The 1960s, and Our Hidden Brain.

254: The World of Tricksters—From Loki to Banksy

ROBERT CROOG
Ten Mondays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 07

In-Person
An abiding character, both in folklore and real life, is the Trickster—the wise guy who lives to outsmart others. Whether a lovable rogue or a menace to society, this archetype takes on the powerful and makes them dance to his tune. He can be godly or human, mammal or insect, con artist or real artist. His pranks may be silly or seriously harmful. We'll review a host of famous Tricksters—Hermes, Coyote, Till Eulenspiegel, Brer Rabbit, Maui, Charles Ponzi, Pablo Picasso, et al.—and consider why they're so endearing, exasperating, dangerous, and essential to any culture.

260: The Impact of the Great War on Western Culture and the Western Worldview

CHARLES O’CONNOR
Ten Thursdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 10

In-Person
Intellectual and cultural historians generally consider World War I the turning point in modern Western civilization. This disastrous war shattered Enlightenment confidence in human reason, exposed the 19th-century myth of inevitable progress, challenged traditional belief in a divinely ordered universe, and fostered a postwar cosmic pessimism and materialist cosmology. To understand the war's effect on Western culture, we will compare prewar and postwar philosophy, theology, literature, art, and music, focusing on the evolving Western view of reality. We will end with a discussion of the course's cultural themes and the continuing postwar science-religion debate. This study group has a large capacity.

This study group is a repeat.

Class Format: Lecture and Discussion

Reading: 1-2 hrs/week.

After more than 40 years of environmental law practice, Charles O’Connor earned a Doctor of Liberal Studies from Georgetown, focusing on modern Western culture, including the cultural impact of World War I. He has served as a lecturer in the Georgetown Graduate Liberal Studies Program and has taught at OLLI since 2014.

262: Leadership Skills for Everyone

CAROLE BUNCHER
Eight Fridays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 11

In-Person
Get your act together! These everyday leadership and organizational skills will help you be at the “top of your game.” We will cover a different skill each week. Topics covered include: communication and learning styles, managing time, listening to understand, presentation skills, building strong teams, designing simple surveys, conflict management, and customer service for volunteers. Something for everyone every week!

271: Social Inequality: Causes and Solutions
JERALD HAGE
Eight Tuesdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 08
In-Person
Many signs of inequality are highly visible—stagnant incomes, unemployment, children living in poverty, etc., but many signs of inequality are not so visible: lack of innovation, destruction of intermediate interest groups for political representation for the working class, inefficiency of labor markets, etc. The course examines three spheres of inequality—education, economic, and political—at primarily two levels: micro and macro. One of the major causes of social inequality is the role of knowledge growth. Paradoxically, the two major solutions to social inequality involve creating new knowledge and using systemic, inter-organizational networks to coordinate markets of all kinds. This study group is not a repeat.
Class Format: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: Less than 1 hr/week.
Jerald Hage retired from the University of Maryland in 2000, where he is still the director of the Center for Innovation, and began a career in consulting. He has published 18 books and over 100 papers. He has done research and taught in multiple countries. The course represents a lifetime interest.

289: Understanding Addiction
ROGER MEYER
Eight Tuesdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 08
In-Person
This course will commence with a brief history of addiction and its consequences, including efforts to confront the problems of alcohol and opioid addictions in the 19th, 20th, and 21st centuries. We will include segments of films that highlight problems with alcohol in men and women, opioid addiction, and other substance-use disorders. We plan to amplify these stories through personal testimony by active members of Alcoholics Anonymous during one of the classes. We will review the neurobiology underlying addiction, as well as the political and socioeconomic factors that contribute to the risk of drug/alcohol use and addiction; and, we will review successful and failed national, community, and personal efforts to address drug and alcohol use, as well as epidemics. We will review extant approaches to treatment, as well as a novel approach to the prevention of substance use among the young. In the final session, we will be joined by the first White House Drug Czar, whose work has been captured in the book, The Fix by Michael Massing.

Commencing at the NIH, Roger Meyer has had a long career in academic medicine, leading NIH-funded clinical research on cannabis in heavy and casual smokers at Harvard, on opioid addiction at Harvard and more recently at Pennsylvania State, and on alcoholism at the University of Connecticut, where he also served as Chair of Psychiatry. Dr. Meyer also served as consultant to three White House Offices on Addiction.

275: Both Sides Now:
Reflections for Women at Midlife
COLETTE TRACY
Eight Fridays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 11
Online
The class is about the empowerment of women through midlife years and beyond. As women, we have always felt that we need to care for, love, and put others first, especially for the women of our generation. This was the way we were raised from our mothers, the “Silent Generation.” It is at midlife, that for the perhaps the first time in our lives, we can begin to focus on ourselves and what we want to do. Sometimes we feel a bit lost at this stage, mainly because we have never had this opportunity. This is the time to get healthy, create a community of like-minded people, and plan for the things that can bring us joy.

305: International Trade

PATRICK MACRORY
Nine Fridays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 11
In-Person
The enormous growth in world GDP since WWII resulted in large part from the liberalization of international trade, in particular the huge lowering of tariffs. The modern international trading system reached its zenith in 1995 with the creation of the World Trade Organization (WTO), which now has 164 members and covers virtually all international trade in goods, services, and intellectual property. However, the WTO has lost its way in recent years. The dispute-settlement system is in limbo as a result of actions by the Trump Administration. And the Doha Round of trade negotiation collapsed after producing only one non-controversial agreement. After discussing the economic and political importance of trade, the course will describe the development of the modern system and analyze the basic rules. It will cover the difficulties currently faced by the WTO and the prospects for reform, as well as the implications of the massive growth of free-trade agreements. It will also discuss current trade issues, including the US/China trade “war,” digital trade, and climate change.

Patrick Macrory began his legal career in the UK but has spent the last 50 years practicing international trade law in Washington, DC. He has lectured on the subject in many parts of the world, and for the last 20 years has run a course on the subject several times a year at the Foreign Service Institute. He has published extensively on trade, and was Editor-in-Chief of a 3,000-page book on the World Trade Organization. His last book, Business Guide to Trade and Investment, has been translated into Chinese.

322: Contemporary Economic Policy Issues

JON HAVEMAN
ALAN RHINESMITH, OLLI COORDINATOR
Ten Fridays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 10
Online
Academic economists from all over the country will present in-depth analyses on a wide-ranging set of economic policy issues. These scholars are all experts in their field and in the topic on which they will be speaking. Topics may include Healthcare Economics, Cryptocurrencies, the Black-White Wealth Gap, Infrastructure Economics, or some other set of topics that are of particular interest at the time. Jon Haveman is an expert on economic policy issues and speaks regularly at events across California. His more than 500 talks have covered a wide range of policy topics. Jon Haveman holds a PhD in Economics from the University of Michigan. The talks will be provided by NEED, a delegation of more than 700 PhD economists. Jon will be presenting for several sessions; other sessions will be presented by subject-matter experts from all around the country.

350: Protecting and Maximizing Your Retirement Income

DAVID HURWITZ
Seven Thursdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 10
Online
During this study group, members will learn how to set up a retirement-income stream consistent with their retirement goals, understand tax treatments with their investment objectives, and plan for inflation, economic challenges, and a potentially long retirement. Sessions will include insights on estate planning, tax planning, long-term care, social security planning, and how to utilize various investment vehicles. OLLI does not endorse particular products or financial advice from Study Group Leaders.

351: Tax Policy: What’s Your Fair Share?

MARTIN SILFEN
Eight Tuesdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 08
In-Person
Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr. said, “Taxes are what we pay for a civilized society.” True enough. But how much of that burden should you bear?
In this study group we will discuss various approaches to allocating the tax burden among citizens. We will learn about overarching principles that help shape a viable tax system. We will consider our existing tax systems and explore suggestions for improvement. Throughout the course, we will evaluate (and grade) different tax proposals. All participants are encouraged and expected to express their opinions. This study group is a repeat with revisions.

361: Boom and Bust

WILLIAM DANEF

Ten Wednesdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)

March 09

Online

Pundits will argue that the most recent financial crisis was unique in American history. Indeed, each financial bust has shown unique causes and characteristics. However, from William Duer’s attempt to profit from the country’s post-Revolutionary War debt through the 21st-century’s mortgage-backed, security-driven downturn, common themes can be observed. This study group will review the economic history of the United States, primarily focusing on how we have been lending, borrowing, crashing, and recovering our way through an extraordinary range of financial crises. With each crisis, we will consider the question, “Is this time really different?”

402: Interpreting Your DNA Test

ROBERT LAROSSA

Ten Thursdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)

March 10

Online

By now, many of us have had our DNA analyzed within a genealogical context, and often are confused by the returned results. This is not surprising since the biology our demographic was taught preceded the molecular biology revolution of 1960–1975. Here we have two aims: to understand both the fundamental mechanics of genetics and how DNA testing underpins a new approach to genealogy. Only with a knowledge of genetic principles can the impact of DNA testing be appreciated. In ten weeks, we will achieve these goals by lectures, discussion, and videos.

422: Climate Change and Climate Science

JONATHAN (JOSH) BERMAN

Ten Thursdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)

March 10

In-Person

We are surrounded by climate, climate change, and media coverage of climate change. In 2021, Steven Koonin—a theoretical physicist who was both BP’s Chief Scientist for Alternative Energy and Obama’s Deputy Secretary for Energy—published the book Unsettled: What Climate Science Tells Us, What it Doesn’t, and Why it Matters. The book is divided into two parts: Part I: Climate Science; Part II: The Response (the economics related to how to respond to the science). The emphasis in this study group will be on Part I: Climate Science (see syllabus), which even though it is the basis for most conversations about climate, will be novel to us. Koonin’s proposed “Response”—the economics related to how to respond to the science—is controversial and has generated furious criticism, both with respect to his view of climate science and to his economics related to it. This study group is an opportunity for the SGL and participants, as co-equals, to read this challenging book and criticisms of it. Each participant should expect to lead the discussion at least one week (see syllabus). Koonin writes very well. Nevertheless, this course will be demanding and 5-6 hours of reading per week may be necessary. This study group is not a repeat.

Class Format: Discussion
Reading: More than 3 hrs/week.

Josh Berman, MD-PhD, is a medical scientist not a climate scientist. The study group format will be “a discussion among equals:” an opportunity for all us climate science novices to understand climate science and how to interpret it.

426: The Human Body
MARJORIE SHAW
Eleven Mondays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 07
Hybrid
The best way to partner with your physician in guarding your health is to understand the basic workings of your body. So many well-educated people know little about their own insides! This course will be inspired by readings from Bill Bryson’s book, The Body: A Guide For Occupants. Class sessions will supplement the readings with deeper explanations of how major organs function, using images and videos to convey structure/function relationships. This course is for beginners; no prior knowledge is assumed and the reading is easy. This study group is a repeat.

441: Introduction to the Cloud
VICTOR REZMOVIC
Eight Thursdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 10
Online
We use it every day, but we’re not really sure how it works. The Cloud has slowly become part of our lives and touches much of the technology we use today. You can’t understand the world of your children and grandchildren unless you spend some time dwelling in this Cloud. During this eight-session study group, we will use lectures and demonstrations to examine the terminology that explains the mechanics of how the Cloud functions. We will review the major players that dominate the Cloud such as Google, Apple, and Microsoft. We will also review the primary applications that are being used such as file storage, music and video streaming, and how to stay safe while using the Cloud. This study group has a large capacity.

444: Algorithms—How Machines Think
JACQUES READ
Nine Mondays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 07
In-Person
Algorithms—or sets of rules to be followed to be used to solve problems—have been in use for several thousands of years. A really good algorithm always works, and can be programmed for a computer to save humans from having to think for themselves. The course will review the history of old reliable algorithms and discuss nine types of algorithms that run much of our present world. Most of the algorithms are clever and easily understood, while a few involve diabolically complex mathematics. These latter examples will have their effect explained without involving their complexity. This study group is a repeat with revisions.

Class Format: Lecture and Discussion

Reading: Less than 1 hr/week.

Jacques Read has taught at Fairleigh Dickinson University and the University of California, performed research at Oak Ridge and Lawrence Livermore National Laboratories, and been employed by the Atomic Energy Commission, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, and the Department of Energy. ### 452: Energy and Climate Change

ALBERT CHEH

RON EDELSTEIN

Nine Mondays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)

March 07

Online

We begin with why global temperature rise needs to be kept below 1.5°C by the end of this century. Achieving that will require a massive shift from fossil fuels to non-carbon-emitting renewable energy, plus substantial gains in energy efficiency. We will examine the status and future prospects of solar, wind, biomass, geothermal, hydroelectric, ocean, and nuclear technologies. We also will explore means of reducing energy consumption in buildings and transportation, etc., and attempt to rank the most effective means of reducing carbon emissions. No scientific background is required. This study group is a repeat with revisions.

Class Format: Lecture and Discussion

Reading: No required reading.

Albert Cheh has a BA in Chemistry from Columbia and a PhD in Biochemistry from the University of California at Berkeley. He retired as Professor Emeritus in Environmental Science and in Chemistry at American University in 2017 and continues to teach Sustainable Energy at American to mostly non-science majors.

Ron Edelstein has almost 50 years of experience as an engineer, first at Pratt & Whitney working on aircraft engines, then as a consultant for the Department of Energy, and then in senior R&D positions at the Solar Energy Research Institute and the Gas Research Institute. Ron in his retirement is a “climate ambassador” for the Climate Interactive ENROADS climate simulation model. Ron has three engineering degrees: Aerospace Engineering, Engineering Science: Solid Mechanics, and Engineering Science: Environmental Science & Technology.

475: The Stories Behind the Vaccines

PHIL BRUNELL

Eight Wednesdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)

March 09

In-Person

Among the stories to be examined:

- Small pox—the first vaccine: the first protests;
- Polio—a long-awaited vaccine and the concerns about injury from polio vaccine, the problem of global eradication;
- Influenza vaccine—the grim reaper, why the vaccine still is imperfect;
- Pneumococcal vaccine—initially for the prevention of pneumonia and the key to vaccines to prevent meningitis;
- Hepatitis vaccine—the first anticancer vaccine;
- Human papilloma vaccine—the second anticancer vaccine;
- Measles and German measles—the faux autism link;
- Zoster, chickenpox, and herpes—the challenges of latent viruses; and
- Covid vaccines

480: The Ups and Downs of Weather

PAUL BROWN

Ten Mondays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)

March 07

Online

This is a beginner’s guide to weather and climate, for which at least a rudimentary familiarity with science will be helpful, but not necessary. The first half of the course will focus on the principal elements that underlie weather—heat, wind, and water—and the second half will show how they interact to produce the major types of bad weather: frontal storms, thunderstorms, supercells, tornadoes, derechos, and hurricanes. The course will conclude with single sessions devoted to the environment (especially global warming) and to atmospheric optics (blue sky, rainbows, halos, auroras, etc.). A profusely illustrated spiral-bound booklet written for the course can be purchased for the printing cost of $35 (highly recommended both as a guide to the lectures and as a useful work of reference). Class members will receive more information about when and where to purchase the book before the course begins.

492: The Human Immune System
ALBERT TARAN
Ten Wednesdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 09
In-Person
The human immune system is a remarkably complex, resilient, and powerful biological mechanism for protecting us against infection and disease. It can distinguish between alien invaders of our body (bacteria and viruses), and the body's own cells and microbiome — eliminating the former and protecting the latter. However, it can at times misfire and attack the body's own cells, leading to autoimmune diseases. In this study group, we will explore in some detail the operation and components of both the innate and adaptive immune systems. New therapies to fight cancer have resulted from our expanded understanding of the immune system, as well as novel techniques to fight viral infections such as the coronavirus.

505: Masters of the Italian Baroque
DAVID FLAXMAN
Eleven Mondays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 07
Hybrid
Claudio Monteverdi was a master composer of vocal music — credited by some as the father of the modern opera — and the composer of eight books of madrigals that set the poetry of Torquato Tasso (of Gerusalemme Liberata fame) and others beautifully and memorably. Monteverdi helped usher in the Baroque era of music from the late Renaissance. His influence on subsequent Italian composers was enormous and we will study a few of them and conclude with the late Baroque music of Antonio Vivaldi. Vivaldi, of course, is best known as the composer of The Four Seasons, but this only scratches the surface of his greatness. As usual, we will proceed largely chronologically as we study these composers. This study group has a large capacity.

510: Cover Me: Tales of Songwriters and Their Songs
LARRY GONDELMAN
Eight Tuesdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 08
Hybrid
"Respect" by Aretha Franklin was just crowned the number one song in the updated Rolling Stone list of 100 greatest songs. However, the Queen of Soul’s take on the song was actually a “cover” of the original which was written and performed by Otis Redding. As great as Otis’ performance is, Aretha’s became the definitive version. In this class, we will learn the stories of the songwriters who write songs that others perform and how the cover songs took on lives of their own. We’ll start by listening to cover songs by two of the greatest cover...
bands that ever existed—the Beatles and The Rolling Stones, bands that got their start by playing songs written by Buddy Holly, Chuck Berry, Robert Johnson, and others. Then there are the stories of the professional songwriters behind hits such as “Hound Dog,” “Stand By Me,” and “(You’ve Lost that) Lovin’ Feeling”—writers like Stoller and Lieber; Mann and Weil; Dozier, and Holland. Some professional songwriters went on to become performers in their own right so we’ll learn the stories of Carole King, Randy Newman, Jimmy Webb, and Laura Nyro. We’ll then venture in one of the favorite debates in bars—which version of a song is better. One week we will listen to songs by bands and performers that hit the big time mostly on the backs of their covers—The Turtles, The Byrds, Three Dog Night, The Monkees, and Dusty Springfield. Other classes will focus on some of the most covered songs of all time as well as traditional and classical songs that became modern day hits (“House of the Rising Sun,” “Sloop John B,” and “Tom Dooley”). The course will finish with a survey of songs written for movies, TV, and the theater that entered the pop mainstream, as well as songs that are used for commercials. ### 542: Early Romantic Composers: Their Lives, Their Times, Their Music

JOHN BOWEN

Nine Mondays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)

March 07

Online

“The forces that had been set in motion by the French Revolution and the Industrial Revolution had transformed Europe. Everything was in the process of change.... New attitudes about life, religion, economics and politics were in the air. In the arts, everybody was talking about Romanticism. Modern life came into being. Music, of course, reflected the new age.” —Harold C. Schonberg. In this course we will spend time with musical notables of this new age: Johann Nepomuk Hummel, Niccolò Paganini, Carl Maria von Weber, Franz Peter Schubert, Hector Berlioz, Fanny and Felix Mendelssohn, Frédéric Chopin, Robert and Clara Schumann, and Franz Liszt. We’ll listen to some of their best, most original, and most beautiful music, trace the outlines of their lives, and ask about the sources of their inspiration. This study group is a repeat with revisions.

Class Format: Lecture

Reading: No required reading.

Despite, or perhaps because of, decades in economics classrooms, John Bowen remains an incurable Romantic. He has led OLLI classes on women composers and also works on the Steinway Diary Project at the Smithsonian.

560: Doing Art with Collage

ROSE MOSNER

Eight Wednesdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)

March 09

In-Person

Collage is the perfect medium for getting your creative juices flowing. Using a variety of materials, we will immerse ourselves in creativity: color, composition, imagery, and texture. Bring scissors, glue, pencils, background cardboard, old photos, fabric scraps, ribbons, textured papers, string, pieces of plastic, colored pencils, paints, markers, pens, or whatever comes to mind. A background in art/collage is helpful. This study group is a repeat.

Class Format: Appreciation

Reading: No required reading.

Rose Mosner taught art in New York City schools for 22 years. With budgets for supplies very low, she canvassed neighborhood stores for fabric scraps, leftover wool skeins, wallpaper sample books, and the local lumberyard for wood scraps. Thus began her love of found-object collage. Rose’s work has been in many juried shows, and she had a solo show at the Iona Gallery. She is also one of only ten artists involved with a special program for artists over 62 sponsored by Columbia University.

565: Seeing More, Enjoying More at the Ballet

ILSA BUSH

Eight Wednesdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)

March 09

In-Person

This class will enrich your experience of watching ballet and dance in general. The class will use video and photographic materials spanning the 16th to 21st centuries, along with lecture information, to present the history of ballet and its defining technique. We will explore ballet features such as storytelling, use of pattern, musical accompaniment, character development, and stagecraft. We will look at the changes in ballet over time and the connections between traditional and contemporary ballet offerings. The class will include time for discussion and encourage participants to enhance the discussion with their knowledge of dance, history, or other art forms. This study group is a repeat with revisions.

Class Format: Lecture and Discussion

Reading: No required reading.

Ilسا Bush, retired lawyer, received teaching credentials from American Ballet Theatre’s teacher-training program and taught ballet technique and dance history at DC area universities and studios for 20 years. She worked for dance history preservation with Dance Heritage Coalition and assisted dance organizations with grant proposals.
572: Medieval Manuscripts and the History of Script
CARIN RUFF
Ten Fridays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 11
In-Person
Our alphabet and the modern form of the physical book developed between the late Roman Empire and the invention of printing. We will explore how script evolved during that millennium and the materials, aesthetics, and organizational structures of the premodern book. Participants will learn how to navigate digitized manuscripts online and the basics of recognizing medieval scripts, so they will be equipped to continue exploring on their own. Class meetings will combine illustrated lectures and studying manuscript pages together, with plenty of time for questions and discussion. There is no required reading, but participants will be encouraged to explore online resources between class meetings.
This study group is a repeat with revisions.
Class Format: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: No required reading.

588: Travels with Ibn Battuta
DELRIE HOBBS
Eight Thursdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 10
Online
In 1325, at the age of 21, Ibn Battuta set off from his native Tangier (Morocco) on the Hajj to Mecca. He did not return to Morocco until 1349, by which time he had visited not only Mecca, but also Egypt, Syria, Iraq, Persia, East Africa, Yemen, Anatolia, the steppes of southern Russia, Constantinople, India, the Maldives, Sumatra, and China. Ibn Battuta is one of the great travelers in medieval history—follow along his 75,000-mile trek, as we focus on the arts in each region, as well as the culture, history, and architecture. This study group has a large capacity.

She has a MA in Asian art from the University of London.

590: Looking at Architecture
JOHN VORHES
Ten Wednesdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 09
In-Person
A building is part of history and, by really looking, we can see details that illuminate the culture and technology of its time. When describing a house or an office building, we often use terms like “Colonial,” “Victorian,” or “Modern,” yet these don’t accurately define the style or suggest the reasons for it. Spotting details you may have never noticed before will give you a vocabulary—a quick understanding of basic structure, from load-bearing walls to steel-skeleton skyscrapers. The class's visual survey of historic to current architecture might inspire you to explore your neighborhood to find examples of great (and sometimes not so great) architecture. We'll establish an email conversation with photos and you can practice your skill as a design critic. We end with a “Fun Final,” a review exam to test your design recall.

600 LANGUAGE & LITERATURE
600: Classical Languages
DONALD ROSS
Ten Fridays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 11
Hybrid
First, what this course is not: (1) It is not a language course. No one will be expected to master Sanskrit, Greek, or Latin in ten weeks! (2) It is not a course in sociology. We won’t be exploring the relation of those languages to the cultures that produced them. (3) It is not for the faint-of-heart! This is a course in linguistics. It has two goals: (1) The less important goal is to enable participants to sound out passages written in Greek and Sanskrit. That implies mastery of the alphabets. (2) The more important goal is to get an idea of what the common ancestor of all three languages must have been like. This will be accomplished by exploring the most complex grammatical features found in the three languages

601: Conversation à travers le cinéma français, et lecture d’articles pour présenter la culture, les arts, la société francophone

MICHÈLE SPITTLER
Ten Mondays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 07
In-Person
Ce groupe d’études est pour des étudiants qui ont un niveau d’université intermédiaire/avancé. Une participation intensive des étudiants est très importante. L’objectif est de développer le vocabulaire courant et d’être capable de s’exprimer dans des phrases courtes mais correctes grammaticalement de façon à parler presque couramment. Le cours sera basé sur des films, vus en totalité. Cela donnera une base pour parler de différents sujets présentés dans le film. La participation des étudiants est fortement recommandée. Les étudiants pourront aussi faire des recherches sur certains thèmes du film, et présenter leurs résultats à la classe (pas plus de 5 minutes) en français naturellement. Au début de la session une liste de vocabulaire et des explications et exercices de grammaire seront données aux étudiants. Ce travail sera à faire comme devoirs pour la prochaine session. Un plan de travail sera aussi distribué. La classe sera aussi exposée aux dernières nouvelles sur la politique, la culture, les arts, les films etc., par des articles distribués en cours par le professeur. Il ne sera pas nécessaire de voir le film en dehors de la classe.

613: Latin for Curious Beginners, Part Two
DIANA SMITH
Eleven Fridays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 11
In-Person
A continuation of the fall Latin class, this class will cover the next chapters in Wheelock’s Latin. As before, we will emphasize the grammar and syntax of the language, and will begin to translate more complex texts. All those who took the fall class are automatically eligible; if someone else would like to join, you would need to have some background in Latin. Please contact the SGL at desdian@gmail.com.

617: The Great French Songbook
LISA HARPER
Eight Wednesdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 09
In-Person
This course will explore the great French songs of the 1940s, 1950s, and 1960s, through multi-media presentations and class discussions. The class will focus on such artists as Jacques Brel, Charles Aznavour, Georges Brassens, and Barbara who wrote the lyrics, composed the music, and sang the songs. Students will practice speaking, reading, and listening to French. The class, which will be taught in French, requires at least an intermediate language level. All course materials (PowerPoint presentations, song lyrics, and vocabulary lists) will be in French and English. This is a French conversation class with a specialized focus. While it places the songs in their cultural/historical context, it is not a music appreciation or a social history class.

620: Italian Conversation and Culture
ARRIGO MONGINI
Ten Mondays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 07
Online
This course is for students who have studied Italian for at least one year. Its purpose is to improve students' ability to speak and understand spoken Italian. A few days in advance of each class students will be assigned material in Italian from the works of authors and/or from newspaper articles. Students will read aloud this material in turn and, in some cases, say its English meaning. Other students and/or the study group leader will comment or ask questions and the discussion will continue in conversational Italian mode. Please refer to the syllabus, which gives specific information about the short stories to be covered.

621: Enjoying The New Yorker Together
DELBERT SPURLOCK
Nine Thursdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 10
Online
The New Yorker's audience beyond New York enjoys reportage, commentary, essays, short stories, satire, poetry, and cartoons, with provocative covers, book, theater, and movie reviews, and articles on medicine and law, world politics, and social issues. For 40 minutes of each session, a class member chooses an item from a New Yorker issue and adds something from his/her experience, knowledge, or research, followed by class discussion. Individual OLLI members have taken the course two, three, and more times. Enjoy an open, friendly atmosphere

626: Essays: Classics, Favorites, Earmarked

RICHARD PALMER

Ten Wednesdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)

March 09

Online

The study group will read and discuss essays notable for style, importance, and historical influence. The leader will offer a tentative roster (Montaigne, Hazlitt, Merton, E.B. White, and others) but hopes to elicit from members in the first or second sessions several favorites or “to be read” that can evoke discussion among life-reflective, life-experienced OLLI members, since this is envisioned as an actively participative course. Some members may volunteer to introduce suggested essays, or share contextual information about some essays. Ability to download scanned and email-attached content will be useful; printed copies can be made available for those who need them, though there will be charges for copying.

630: Charles Dickens, George Eliot, and “The Root of All Evil”

LINDA FREEMAN

Eight Mondays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)

March 09

Online

Scripture tells us that the love of money is the root of all evil. We will read and discuss three 19th-century books that look at the alienation, distortion, and guilt caused by the possession, loss, and misuse of money. First will be Dickens's Great Expectations (about the effects of a mysterious fortune bestowed on a young man) in the novel that is considered by many critics to be Dickens’s best and most brilliant. We then will then read two shorter works, both about a miser: Dickens's A Christmas Carol (yes, of course you know the story, but when did you last actually read the text?) and George Eliot’s Silas Marner (yes, that book you hated in high school; did you know then that it is full of complex ironies?)

Class Format: Lecture and Discussion

Reading: More than 3 hrs/week.

Linda Freeman, PhD, a retired University of Maryland lecturer in Victorian literature, has also taught for Smithsonian Associates and led many OLLI literature study groups.

631: Understanding Families Through Plays

KAREN GAIL LEWIS

Eight Mondays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)

March 07

In-Person

The first two plays address adult children confronting parents about their past, from a male and a female playwright; The Cocktail Hour, by A.R. Gurney, and Painting Churches, by Tina Howe. The third play, The Piano Lesson, by August Wilson, raises the question of what family members do with their legacy. We’ll conclude with The Unavoidable Disappearance of Tom Durnin, by Steven Levenson, about a prison-released father trying to reuniite with his family. We discuss each play for two weeks, focusing on themes, i.e., family/sibling relationships, gender roles, multi-generational patterns, and gender issues. This is an entertaining, interactive class. Reading each play beforehand will enrich participation.

633: Wallace Stevens and Company

DANIEL COYLE

Eight Wednesdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)

March 09

In-Person

In this study group, we’ll read and discuss the poetry of a half-dozen modernists who carried forward the American Romantic tradition of Emerson and Whitman, exalting the powers of the imagination to create order and meaning in the world. We begin with Wallace Stevens, the champion of this movement. We then take up A.R Ammons, Marianne Moore, Elizabeth Bishop, John Ashbery, James Richardson, and John Koethe. A packet of the readings will be sent out before each session.

639: Appreciating Children’s Picture Books as an Adult

KAREN BUGLASS

Eight Mondays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)

March 07

Online

We’ll explore literary themes and hear from authors via taped interviews while enjoying the rich language and beautiful illustrations that make these books so special. See how stories spark the imagination and give readers—of all ages—the opportunity to connect with characters and events that are part of the universal human experience.

640: Poems about Paintings

GERRY HENDERSHOT

DONNA JONTE

Eight Thursdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)

March 10

Online

We will view and discuss paintings by old masters and contemporary artists, and poems about those paintings, such as Breughel's painting Icarus and Auden's poem "Le Musee des Beaux Arts." Our goal will be to enhance our understanding and appreciation of both arts. We will be joined by education staff of The Phillips Collection, who will discuss paintings in the collection and guide a free in-person tour, pandemic restrictions permitting. Although painters and poets will be introduced by the study group leader, emphasis will be on discussion among the group. Participants will be invited to write (at least) one short poem or paragraph about a painting of their choice and present it to the study group.

This study group is a repeat with revisions.

Class Format: Lecture and Discussion

Reading: 1 hr/week.

645: Hard Times in Academia

MARY POOLE

Ten Wednesdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)

March 09

In-Person

No, this is not a course on what the pandemic did to college life. Rather, it will focus on five novels that paint the misadventures attending those connected to a seat of higher learning. These are somewhat atypical “campus novels” in that they are not works of farce, yet ironies abound in each. In one, set in 1912, scientific reasoning is upended by mystery; in another, set in the 1950s, a teacher from New York tries to remake his life in the West; in one, a young woman questions her relationship to language and the world; in another, a humanist confronts the nature of the knowable and how we know it; the last takes on early 21st-century culture wars. And all of them involve human love gone wrong—or right.

646: How to Wash a Child’s Heart

JENNY PIERSON

Ten Tuesdays (9:45 AM - 12:30 PM)

March 08

In-Person

This is a course for experienced poets who wish to enrich their hearts, embrace new voices, and express the joys and pains of the human world. The notion of “takotsubo syndrome,” or a broken heart, will dominate our discussions. Using Pablo Neruda’s keenly observed “things” in his disarming odes, alongside Bhanu Kapil’s prize-winning collection, How To Wash A Heart, which depicts the relationship between an immigrant guest and a privileged host, we will craft poems weekly based on readings and assignments. Discussion of the work of our chosen poets, as well as critiques of each member’s original poems, completes each class.

651: A Writing Workshop: Writing Down the Bones

EDWARD WARD
PATRICIA SPECTOR
Eight Tuesdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 08
Online
This workshop is for people who like to write or think they might like to write and who find it helpful to have a setting or stimulus to actually sit down and write. Each session consists of two or more spells of writing in response to a short prompt. After writing for 10-15 minutes, participants have the opportunity—but are not required—to share what they have written. Positive feedback is encouraged; critical feedback can be requested. The common prompts lead participants in surprisingly different directions. The format was established by Brock Hansen, who led the workshop in earlier years. It draws on ideas about writing practice presented in Natalie Goldberg’s book, Writing Down the Bones.

653: Plagues We Have Known

SUSAN UROFSKY
Eight Tuesdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 08
In-Person
Looking back in time, we can discover what major upheavals such as our Covid-19 require of individuals and cultures. Even in the Bible, there were plagues. Through literature, where plagues/pandemics are central or incidental, we can better understand what scared people, the nature of the damage, and attempted solutions. The study group will read and discuss fiction and nonfiction to better understand the story of our current Pandemic, note parallels with past pandemics, assess the impact on individuals and their world, and reach toward the future.
The class uses a seminar format with each participant reading the two required books for the class, plus choosing an additional book from an optional list that will be provided upon registration.

655: Early Twentieth-Century American Fiction

RONALD PARLATO
Ten Wednesdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 09
Online
The course will study works by Dreiser, Lewis, London, Fitzgerald, Anderson, and Norris, and will present the range of focus, theme, style, and language represented. The early 20th century was remarkable not only for the number of significant authors of the period, but for the variety and diversity of their works, their depth, narrative skill, and surprising modernism. From Sherwood Anderson’s unsettling psychological portraits to Fitzgerald’s elegant prose and finely drawn characters, to Lewis’ and Dreiser’s realism, and to London’s spare philosophical insights, the period was important in the history of American fiction.

671: The Ancient Greek Art of the Dramatic Novel

ANDREW WHITE
Ten Fridays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 11
In-Person
As part of his efforts to unlock the secrets of Ancient Greek culture, OLLI regular Andy White now turns his attention to those curious tall tales known today as “novels”—but which were actually composed in a unique environment where dramatic literature was shifting from the stage to the page. We will read some classic Ancient Greek stories, dramatic and fantastical, which were actually called “Dramas” in their day—and we will puzzle over the status of what we might call post-dramatic Ancient Greek drama!

675: Poems That Talk Back

CLAIRE PETTENGILL
Eight Thursdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 10
Online
Poets are often inspired (or provoked) by another writer's work to compose a fresh poem in response. These “backtalk” poems vary widely and are great fun to study: they can voice angry and mocking rebuttals, respectful disagreements, thoughtful extrapolations, and playful teasing, to give only a few examples. Each week, the study group will read and respond to a poem pair that illustrates these dynamics. Members will read at home (but do not need fully to digest) the poems assigned for the week, which will be available electronically. In class, we will share questions and insights, getting to know some wonderful poems while building a relaxed, open-minded atmosphere that welcomes various voices and viewpoints. 677: Classics of African American Art
(Primarily Literature and Music)

ELEANOR HEGINBOTHAM
GERALD COLEMAN
Eight Thursdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 10
Online
According to a recent book, we are called to Read Until You Understand: The Profound Wisdom of Black Life and Literature. To that end, we will explore texts, music, and images, which have influenced the current plethora of African American art. Team-taught by a lifelong English professor and a lifelong composer and performer, the class will explore work by, among others, Frederick Douglass, James Weldon Johnson, Zora Neale Hurston, and Richard Wright. This is the first of two multi-disciplinary semesters we hope to lead in which the vexing contradictions of justice and racism are addressed with—often—glorious provisional resolutions. This study group has a large capacity.

Class Format: Reading and Discussion
Reading: 2-3 hrs/week.
Eleanor Heginbotham, PhD, author and professor on American authors for five decades around the world, and for the past 15 years at OLLI, is eager to return to these texts with Gerald Coleman, PhD, composer, conductor, organist, performer (Carnegie Hall, Kennedy Center), and theologian, whose honors include the Yale’s Music Fox Award.

681: What’s New in the Short Story?

SUSAN WILLENS
Eight Mondays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 07
Online
In this course, we will read and discuss works in The Best American Short Stories 2021, edited by Jesmyn Ward and Heidi Pitlor. The collection introduces recent stories that explore a wide variety of settings, characters, styles, and intentions—all stunningly contemporary. Class members will share one or two stories for each of the eight weeks of the course. This study group is not a repeat.
Class Format: Reading and Discussion
Reading: 2-3 hrs/week.
Susan Willens has been a Study Group Leader at OLLI for several years, varying her offering among stories, plays, and essays. A graduate of the University of Michigan, Yale, and Catholic universities, Susan Willens looks forward to this new term with confidence that we will enjoy and learn from this text and from each other.

684: Shakespeare: FAQ

HELEN SCHWARTZ
Eight Tuesdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 08
In-Person
Certain questions have arisen whenever I’ve taught Shakespeare, so this is my chance to answer using generous excerpts from famous productions and movies. Why use weird or unhistorical settings (illustrated by Romeo and Juliet)? How can the same play be a hit for 500 years (Taming of the Shrew)? These days, must a black man play Othello (John Kani and Orson Welles)? Why does Shakespeare have to write in Old English poetry? (Yes, that’s what my students say.) How would you apply the recently promulgated Schwartz Doctrine of text revision (including you cannot add text, though you can omit up to 100 lines total) to the ending of Taming?

Class Format: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: 1 hr/week.
Helen Schwartz, a professor of English with Fulbrights in the Netherlands and Turkey, and faculty exchanges in Debrecen, Hungary, and Chengdu, China, has taught at Oakland University in Michigan and Indiana University. Her OLLI courses include Shakespeare, The Internet, Year Zero: A History of 1945, and Fateful Documents.
685: August Wilson’s American Century Cycle
RAYMOND MAXWELL
Eleven Thursdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 10
Online
The study group will read and discuss one August Wilson play each week for 11 weeks, completing the American Century Cycle of ten plays. Each participant will be required to read the assigned play at home, select a passage or passages they find significant, then be prepared to read the passage and discuss why that passage is significant to them. After class, each student will have the opportunity to post to a blog a few paragraphs about the play. The goal of the course will not be to exhaustively discuss each play, but to participate in a brief, collaborative close read and discussion by the group.
This study group is a repeat with revisions.
Class Format: Reading and Discussion
Reading: 2-3 hrs/week.
Raymond Maxwell is from Greensboro, NC. He came to Washington for a career position in the foreign service in 1992 after completing a stint in the Navy. He began a lifelong fascination with August Wilson after seeing Fences on Broadway in 1988. After retiring, Raymond earned a masters in library science. He has been an OLLI SGL since 2018.

690: Anglo-Indian Novels: The Raj, Its Aftermath, and Diaspora
ELLEN MOODY
Ten Thursdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 10
In-Person
In this class we will read E.M. Forster’s A Passage to India, Paul Scott’s The Jewel in the Crown (Raj Quartet 1), and Jumpan Lahiri’s Namesake. We’ll explore a tradition of literature, colonialist and native cultural interactions, migrancy itself, gender fault lines, what we mean by our identity, belonging, and castes. We’ll include in our discussions Anglo-Indian movies as a genre, and see parts of and talk specifically about David Lean’s Passage to India, the BBC Jewel in the Crown, Merchant-Ivory’s Shakespeare Wallah, and perhaps Mira Nair’s Namesake. We’ll take historical and contemporary perspectives on this rich material.

699: Diego Rivera and Angelina Beloff in Paris
RAYSA AMADOR
Eight Tuesdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 08
In-Person
This study group will explore the lives of Mexican muralist painter, Diego Rivera, and his first wife, Russian artist, Angelina Beloff, while living in France between 1910 and 1920. Presentation and discussion will focus on exactly a moment of great artistic transformation in Paris, the 1910s. We will read Elena Poniatowska’s novel, Dear Diego. The novel acknowledges the professional and private life of Rivera and Beloff when they met Picasso, Léger, Modigliani, Chagall, Mondrian, and numerous important artists of the time. In Dear Diego, Poniatowska highlights the “pull” of Mexico for Diego, and the reason for his return in 1921, which corresponds to the period of national reconstruction under President Obregon after the Mexican Revolution of 1910. This movement of national reconstruction brought about a diverse and active artistic climate in which the Mexican government sponsored programs such as the legendary mural projects under the directorship of the Minister of Education, José Vasconcelos.

700: Florence—City of Science, Political Theory, Economics, Philosophy, and Oh, Yes, Art

GEORGE LESSER
Ten Wednesdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 09
Online
Forget the art. Forget Michelangelo. Forget Leonardo, Botticelli, Giotto, and Donatello—at least for the moment. Forget them because the pivotal role played by Florentines in Western art is so self-evident, so overwhelming, that people often are fooled into thinking that the only reason to pay any attention to the town is because of the art. In fact, Florentines played equally vital if less appreciated roles in the development of science, philosophy, historiography, literature, political theory, economics, the age of discovery, and the establishment of the basic vocabulary of Western Civilization. And the essential fact is that everything was all wrapped up together. This study group has a large capacity.

701: The Myth and Reality of the Wild West

JOHN VORHES
Ten Tuesdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 08
In-Person
Many Americans are nostalgic for the mythic period known as the “Wild West” (1865–1895) when we boldly settled the Great Plains and the Far West. But the idea of moving the frontier from the Appalachians west into the heartland and beyond took root much earlier, after our independence and our successes over rival European powers that had laid claim to the land. The concept of Manifest Destiny gained popularity before the Civil War and then after, when trails were crowded with adventurers and entrepreneurs. The way we spread our civilization is an arguable achievement, especially when you take into account the Native Americans who were the original residents. In 1893, we celebrated the end of the frontier with a grand exposition in Chicago, where the frontier was declared “ended.” The entire saga is now a beloved blur to many of us, shaded by the myth that has often colored the reality. Here we study the reality and maybe discover the birth of what some think is our national character.

703: America’s Rise and ... Decline

JAMES NATHAN
Ten Mondays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 07
In-Person
The course is organized by key themes and events. Among the topics are World Wars I and II, the Cold War, and the Korean, Vietnam, and Iraq Wars. We also review the impact of domestic politics and other "sources of American conduct." Post-9/11 crises in US foreign policies as they impact America's role in the world are considered as well.

The purpose of this course is to understand policy largely from the standpoint of American policymakers at the time and to evaluate their decisions in light of their consequences. Please note that this course is a repeat that has revisions and an updated title.

740: History of Slavery in America 1619–1862
KAREN STEWART
Eleven Wednesdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 09
Online

From the landing of the first captive Africans at Jamestown, slavery has been a central contradiction of our nation’s history. This course will begin with a view of the 15th-century world from which the Atlantic slave trade emerged. We will focus on slavery in the colonies along the Atlantic seaboard. We will trace the laws, economies, social mores, and politics that impacted the lives of the enslaved Africans. We will see how the African struggle for survival and a place in this emerging nation impacted the nation’s history. The purpose of the class is to help us become more informed participants in the ongoing national conversation on race and reconciliation. This study group has a large capacity.

750: A Passion for Justice and An Interpretation of the US Constitution
ARNOLD LEIBOWITZ
Eight Fridays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 11
Online

This eight-week course will be divided into two 4-week sessions. Session 1 (weeks 1-4), will be a discussion of A Passion for Justice. In weeks 1 and 2, we will discuss the voyage of the Mignonette and the resultant actions of the three people on the raft to survive. In weeks 3 and 4, we will discuss the case of the Spelunking Explorers. A group of men were excavating a cave when it collapsed, trapping the men in the cave. We will discuss what the explorers had to do in order to survive. This is replayed in a fictional effort by Lon Fuller, Professor of Legal Philosophy at Harvard Law School. We will also talk briefly about (1) the sinking of the Titanic and the Lusitania and the problem with the life rafts, and (2) the Donner Party, a group of American pioneers migrating west that was stranded in a snowstorm. Session 2 (weeks 5-8) will involve a discussion of the US Constitution. We will start with a discussion of Justice Antonin Scalia’s book, A Matter of Interpretation, in which he supports what he calls textualism. In the book, he argues for a literal interpretation of the Constitution. We will discuss the comments by Professor Gordon Wood, Lawrence Tribe, Ronald Tworkin, and Mary Ann Glendon. This study group has a large capacity.

768: From Rifled Muskets to Killer Robots
PETER WILSON
Ten Wednesdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 09
In-Person

This study group will consider, from the perspective of the two centuries that followed the Industrial Revolution, the effects of scientific and technological change on the global national security environment. Specifically, this study group will examine the hypothesis that there have been several “revolutions in military affairs” in both the 19th and 20th centuries that emerged as competitive ways of war that profoundly altered the global security environment. Particular emphasis will be given to how the United States has or has not successfully adapted to the periods of rapid military technological change that emerged during the 20th century and how these lessons might be applied to our current 21st-century security challenges.

770: A Brief History of Washington, DC
ROBERT SOMERS
Ten Wednesdays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 09
In-Person

Born out of compromise, Washington, DC, was envisioned as a grand capital city and commercial center for the new American republic. Burned by the British in 1814, bitterly divided by the Civil War, and overshadowed by larger cities, Washington gradually began to come into its own by the turn of the 20th century. The city remains a work in progress as it deals with its unique political status and serves as the center stage for American history. This study group will highlight the history of the city, from its visionary origins to its current dual status as the capital of the free world and a place that more than half a million people call home.

778: We Cannot Escape History: Abraham Lincoln, Abolition President
JOE SIMPSON
Ten Mondays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 07
Online

This course will examine in detail Abraham Lincoln's political and moral journey from opposing the expansion of slavery in 1854 to his presidential leadership to abolish human slavery in the United States in 1865. Lincoln's essential characteristics and his motives as a politician and president will be revealed to evaluate Lincoln's continued relevance as our greatest president. Race, civil unrest, and civil rights confronted Lincoln and confront all Americans today. Lincoln's moral certainty, empathy, and political sagacity were critical human traits that guided and empowered him to victory in war and to guarantee that all Americans would be free, citizens, and entitled to equal political and civil rights.

782: The Transformation of China—From Traditional China to Mao
LEONARD KING
Ten Fridays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 11
In-Person

For over 2,000 years, China considered itself the “Middle Kingdom,” the center of civilization. Before 1750, one-half of all books were printed in Chinese. The Chinese invented paper, the magnetic compass, and printing, and they developed Confucianism, a political philosophy based on rule by knowledge and morality. However, from 1839, the beginning of the Opium War, China was forced to struggle against Imperialism, first trying to adapt Confucianism to accommodate modernization, and finally to abandon it and the dynastic system. In this course, we will study the various Chinese reform and revolutionary movements until Mao transformed the entire system.

791: Obstacles to African American Wealth
PETER WOLFE
Ten Thursdays (1:45 PM - 3:15 PM)
March 10
In-Person

This course will cover the development of obstacles to the prosperity of African Americans. These obstacles primarily relate to the problems of Black businesses and banks, but also with housing and living conditions. They originate with the legacies of slavery, the creation of segregated communities where poverty limits the opportunities for African Americans to support their institutions, and actions of the local and federal governments. I will discuss the issues based on the text but also on other books that I’ve read.

831: Mastering Skills of Mindfulness Meditation
JEFFREY DROBIS
SUSAN DROBIS
Ten Mondays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 07
Online
In this study group, you will learn mindfulness skills to rewire your brain to help make you a happier and more compassionate person. Mindfulness enhances our capacity for managing anxiety, stress, intense emotions, and uncertainty, and increases our capacity to experience deep fulfillment. We will primarily practice techniques that we have learned from Shinzen Young to use both in sitting meditation practice and in ordinary life. Sessions will include instruction, guided meditations, and group discussion. Although there is no required reading, participants should plan to practice meditation on their own for at least ten minutes on most days. This study group is appropriate for both beginners and experienced meditators. This study group is a repeat.
Class Format: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: No required reading.

Susan Drobis, a retired psychotherapist, and Jeffrey Drobis, a retired MD, have practiced meditation for over 25 years. Their teacher Shinzen draws on traditional Asian practices but is consciously secular.

834: Mastering Skills of Mindfulness Meditation: Intermediate Level
JEFFREY DROBIS
Ten Mondays (11:45 AM - 1:15 PM)
March 07
Online
This study session is similar to another offering, Mastering the Skills of Mindful Awareness Practice. It is intended for persons who have taken other study groups with me. If you have not worked with me but have significant experience with meditation and are interested in this offering, please contact me at jeffdrobis@gmail.com. Classes will include instruction, extensive guided meditations, and discussions. In addition, we will devote about ten minutes to discuss a book related to mindfulness practice (to be determined). This study group is a repeat with revisions.
Class Format: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: Less than 1 hr/week.

Jeffrey Drobis, a retired MD, has practiced meditation for more than 25 years. 835: Exploring Eastern Thought
CARL WEICHEL
Eight Tuesdays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 08
In-Person
Eastern philosophies and religions embody many virtues that we in the West find alluring: introspection, gentleness, sensitivity, fortitude, and connection with mind and body. Sikhism in India; Jainism in India; Buddhism in India, Tibet, and Southeast Asia; and Taoism in China hold these virtues, but each is quite different in its ideas, practices, and histories. We will explore the ethics, cosmology, and theology that comprise their unusual religious philosophies. Background will be given on the texts, symbols, images, and practices/rituals, plus the culture, politics, and sociology of each through current times.

860: Post-Kantian Philosophy
DONALD ROSS
Ten Fridays (9:45 AM - 11:15 AM)
March 11
Hybrid
The purpose of this course is to explore the ideas of the major philosophical movements after Kant. It is extremely difficult to put recent history in perspective, but I am trying to imaginatively look back half a millennium from now and ask myself how an OLLI SGL 500 years hence would view the period. I conjecture that such a person would see two particularly significant figures—Hegel and Wittgenstein.

910: The National Security/Military Challenges Facing the Biden Administration

PETER WILSON
February 14-16 from 9:45 AM to 11:15 AM
Online

The Biden administration faces major national security challenges following its messy withdrawal from Afghanistan. Russia has launched a major and sustained military mobilization that threatens a full-scale invasion of Ukraine. At a minimum, Moscow may hope to coerce the Atlantic Alliance into imposing a Munich-like “peace agreement” that subordinates Ukraine to Russia’s geostrategic designs. At worst is the prospect of a major war in Europe. Simultaneously, Washington faces a Chinese government that is rapidly modernizing its military capacity that includes a major expansion of its nuclear arsenal. The threat of conflict over the unresolved territorial status of Taiwan and China’s claims over the South and East China Sea loom large in the Western Pacific. Third is the difficulty of the US disentangling from the Greater Middle East while dealing with the prospect that Iran may acquire a nuclear arsenal. Finally, there are the military technological challenges of this decade that include the emergence of robotic means of combat in all dimensions of warfare. The Biden administration must address all of these national security issues while dealing with the severe and sustained political and economic problems prompted by the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic and the aftermath of the failed January 6th, 2021 insurrection. This study group has a large capacity.

This short course is not a repeat.

Class Type: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: 1-2 hours/session

Peter A. Wilson is an adjunct senior national security analyst at the RAND Corporation. He had a decade-long teaching experience at the Security Studies Program at Georgetown University and at the Eisenhower School, the National Defense University.

911: The Development of Financial Legislation

MATTHEW FINK
February 14-17 from 1:45 PM to 3:15 PM
In-Person

The course will cover the events, policies, and people that produced the laws that govern the American financial system. The laws include the Federal Reserve Act, the Glass-Steagall Act, the federal securities laws, and the 1974 pension reform law. The course will address questions such as: Does it take a financial crash to produce reform legislation? Where do reform ideas come from? Why do financial reform laws fail to prevent the next crisis? The course will not discuss technical financial and legal matters.

This short course is not a repeat.

Class Type: Lecture and Discussion

Matthew P. Fink is the former president of the mutual fund association, the Investment Company Institute. Fink is an honors graduate of Brown University and Harvard Law School and attended the London School of Economics. He has written and lectured widely on American financial history.

912: Tough Cases: Judges Tell the Stories of Some of the Hardest Decisions They’ve Ever Made

RUSSELL CANAN
February 14-18 from 9:45 AM to 11:15 AM
Online

This study group will have a behind-the-scenes look at how judges grapple with and decide some of the hardest cases of their careers. Some cases gained international attention. Other cases are less well-known but equally fascinating as the class will explore the personal, political, and emotional factors that go into making the hard decisions. Class members should plan to read two chapters of Tough Cases before the start of each class (approximately 20 pages per chapter). This study group has a high class size capacity.

Session 1
"Rough Justice" (Judge Canan)
"Terri’s Judge" (Terri Schiavo case) (Judge Greer)

Session 2
"Tribal Justice for Salmon Running" (Chief Judge Greenleaf Maldonado)
"Uneasy Lies the Head That Wears the Crown" (Judge Davidson)

Session 3
"Crazy or Cruel: The Trial of an Unexplained Filicide" (Judge Weisberg)
"United States vs. I. Lewis ‘Scooter’ Libby" (Judge Walton)

Session 4
"Brave Jenny" (Judge Mize)
"Elian" (Judge Bailey)

Session 5
"My Life on the Courts" (Judge Kennedy, Jr.)
"Every Case is a Tough Case for a New Judge" (Judge Ahnn)

914: What Is Rural?

JOE BELDEN
February 7-11 from 11:45 AM to 1:15 PM
Hybrid

Urban, suburban, and rural America are increasingly divided in culture, politics, economics, education, and health outcomes. Why is this so, and should urban people care? This course will examine those and other questions such as—Where and what is rural and why are there multiple definitions? What is the Farm Bill, and what does USDA do? (Both are much more than farming.) Does our system of food production, distribution, and consumption need change? Is that system ruining our environment and health? Do we need a national food policy and a national rural policy? Why are rural and farm programs so fragmented? Who are the main actors in these issues? How have rural and urban politics become so divisive?

This short course is not a repeat. This study group has a large capacity.

Class Type: Lecture and Discussion

Reading: 1-2 hours/session

Joe Belden has taught the OLLI course How Trump Won the Rural Vote and other topics. He was Deputy Director of the Housing Assistance Council and has published two books and a number of articles on rural issues. Guest experts include the Dee Davis, Ferd Hoefner, Keith Wiley, and Justin Maxon. Dee Davis is founder and President of the Center for Rural Strategies and publisher of The Daily Yonder. Ferd Hoefner, former Policy Director of the National Sustainable Agriculture Coalition, is a veteran of nine farm bills. Keith Wiley, PhD, is Senior Research Associate at the Housing Assistance Council and an expert on rural demography and trends. Justin Maxon is the Deputy Under Secretary for Rural Development at the US Department of Agriculture and is a former CEO of the Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation and of the Mountain Association for Community Economic Development.

920: For the Love of Siblings:
Film to Understand Family Relationships

KAREN GAIL LEWIS
February 14-17 from 11:45 AM to 1:15 PM
In-Person

Using the movie, Whales of August (with Bette Davis, Lillian Gish, Ann Southern, and Vincent Price), we will learn about the range of feelings—the ambivalence—aging siblings feel towards each other. This film is an excellent presentation of the love of siblings—the last of their family—as well as the underlying resentments and conflicts from more than 70 or 80 years. We will see excerpts of the film demonstrating the theme of loyalty, frozen images from when they were little, their family-assigned roles as children, and how they negotiate and deal with anger (and sexuality) in their senior years. You will be warmed, charmed, and made to think!

Karen Gail Lewis has taught OLLI courses on Understanding Families Through Plays for a decade. She is a family therapist, practicing for 50 years and has authored numerous books about marriage, gender relationships, singles, and adult siblings.

930: Insurance Considerations for the “Mature” Population

MARK GOTTLIEB
February 7 and 9 from 1:45 PM to 3:15 PM
Online

As we age, it becomes increasingly important that we plan for and obtain coverage to cover the costs of healthcare. The most important forms of insurance in that regard are Medicare coverage; long-term care funding in the event of the need for care over an extended period of time; and life insurance either to protect loved ones or to pass on a “legacy” in a tax-advantaged manner. This is a two-part course which will address each of these issues. Topics will include:

- Understanding Medicare Parts A, B, and D (Prescription Drug Plans), as well as the various types of supplementary products available, e.g., Medicare Supplements, Advantage Plans, and Savings Accounts;
- Ways in which Medicare coverage works vis-a-vis other types of coverage such as Retiree Health Plans;
- Long-term care planning and funding options; discussion will also address those who have previously purchased Long-Term Care policies; and
- Different types of life insurance and associated features of such policies.

He is knowledgeable about all types of LTC services, policies, and funding.

931: Do Only the Rich Have Trusts?
Key Strategies Using Trusts in Your Estate Plan

JOHN BURTON
February 7-8 from 9:45 AM to 11:15 AM
Online

Trusts are not just for the wealthy. Trusts can handle any estate more efficiently than relying on a last will and testament alone. What is the difference between revocable and irrevocable trusts?
Can trusts protect an estate against the costs of probate, state and federal estate taxes, creditor claims, and lawsuits? Do trusts protect you financially should you ever need nursing home care in the future? How do trusts impact wills, powers of attorney, real estate, investments, retirement accounts, and other assets? How does the field of elder law impact the use of trusts? This course surveys the basics of implementing trusts and the new planning opportunities trusts can provide you in your own estate plan. OLLI does not permit solicitation, marketing, or selling of financial products by presenters as part of this study group. This short course is a repeat with revisions.

940: The Basic Science of SARS-CoV-2: A Year Later

ALBERT CHEH
February 14-17 from 11:45 AM to 1:15 PM
Online

This course will update what science has learned about the molecular activities and evolution of SARS-CoV-2, and it will examine the status of molecular countermeasures we’ve tried to try to control the pandemic. We will cover basic biochemistry and structural biology; viral components and replication; testing for virus and antiviral antibodies; vaccine and drug development, and viral sequence surveillance, with particular focus on what has driven domination of the pandemic by successively more worrisome variants. No background in science is necessary.

942: Cutting the Cord: Streaming Alternatives to Cable TV

VICTOR REZMOVIC
February 14-16 from 9:45 AM to 11:15 AM
Online

Broadcast TV and cable TV have traditionally provided in-home media to US households. We are experiencing a new paradigm in home entertainment where households are discontinuing their cable TV contracts in favor of streaming options where content is delivered by companies such as Netflix, Hulu, Amazon Prime Video, and YouTube TV, using streaming devices such as Roku, Firesticks, Apple TV, and Chromecast. This study group has a large capacity. This short course is a repeat with revisions.

Since taking apart his first PC in the mid-1980s, he has followed the technology revolution as email, the Internet, digital music, Netflix, and Amazon have become part of our everyday lives.

943: Relativity

JACQUES READ
February 14-16 from 11:45 AM to 1:15 PM
In-Person

Isaac Newton’s view of the universe was a fixed space obeying all of Euclid’s ancient propositions, in which clocks could be synchronized anywhere desired using a standard clock moved to that point. When 19th-century experiments yielded results not explicable by Newton’s laws, great efforts were expended by the best scientists of the time to save Newton’s laws. This course will describe those efforts and the response by Einstein in his Special Theory (1905) and General Theory (1915), and discuss the consequences of these theories. 944: A Look at Agriculture in the US and Internationally

KENNETH HINGA
February 7-10 from 11:45 AM to 1:15 PM
In-Person

The impression that many of us non-farmers have about agriculture are not very well informed, often flavored by complaints about industrial farming. We will look at the characteristics of the US farming community, farm ownership, and farming practices from organic to use of hormones to genetically engineered crops. We will look at the USDA programs that support agriculture. We’ll examine conservation practices farmers may use and agricultural imports and exports. On the international side, we will look at internationally sponsored agricultural research centers, and the organizations that recommend food-safety standards for countries to adopt.

945: Mathematics in Art
GRAHAM ATKINSON
February 7-10 from 9:45 AM to 11:15 AM
Online
This course will explore the role of mathematics in art: the way mathematics appears in art, some branches of mathematics that have inspired or informed artists, and the use of mathematical tools to analyze art. The artists discussed will include Durer, Picasso, Mondrian, Pollock, and Dali. There will be a discussion of magic squares and a description of a mathematical walk from Foggy Bottom to the Smithsonian Mall, musing about the mathematical aspects of various art and artifacts along the way. This study group has a large capacity.

Since 1981, the MacArthur Foundation has given what the press calls “genius grants” of $625,000 a year for five years to 70 individuals “of outstanding talent” to allow them “to pursue their own creative, intellectual, and professional inclinations.” In this short, four veteran OLLI SGLs will each highlight four recipients in their fields of expertise—classical music, dance, jazz, and vocal music. We’ll use video and audio clips to highlight what’s distinctive about each artist’s work and their influence on other performers. On the list: conductor Marin Alsop, opera singer Dawn Upshaw, jazz pianists Vijay Iyer and Jason Moran, choreographer Twyla Tharp, and vocalist Cecile McLorin Salvant. This study group has a large capacity.

Dan Moskowitz has led many OLLI courses on popular American music.
David Flaxman, a tenor in three local choirs, has been leading OLLI courses in classical music for several years. Retired lawyer Ilsa Bush has studied, performed, and taught dance and dance history. Jazz aficionado Mark Stevens teaches OLLI’s Jazz 101 study group.

951: Sound Revolutions—A Brief History of Recorded Sound
SAMUEL BRYLAWSKI
February 14-18 from 1:45 PM to 3:15 PM
In-Person
The course will comprise four sessions that review the history of commercial recording to the present, with emphasis on music recorded on 78-RPM discs. Among the specific topics to be explored: the birth of commercial recording, arguably, centered in Washington; the acoustic (pre-electrical) era to 1925; what was heard on early recordings, and why; copyright; format battles; new musical genres; microphones and loudspeakers; radio; crooners; the impact of movies and the Great Depression; regional sources and sounds; jazz, blues, and ethnic music; the musicians union; “independent” record labels; and pop revolutions. The fifth session will be devoted to playing and discussion of recordings contributed by class members. This short course is not a repeat.

DAN SHERMAN
February 14-18 from 1:45 PM to 3:15 PM
Online
Music has always served to add to the enjoyment of films, even before the movies “talked.” In this course, we will discuss the development and variety of film music from the great symphonic scores of the 1930s through today’s rich mix of sounds and styles. The course will show how composers achieve their effects and highlight the work of many of the great masters of movie music, including Max Steiner, Erich Wolfgang Korngold, Bernard Herrmann, Danny Elfman, Hans Zimmer, and Alexandre Desplat. This multimedia course will include clips covering many well-known films and the stories of the music behind them. This study group has a large capacity.

953: “Made You Look, Made You Think:” The Early Pioneers of Abstraction

CHRIS WITH
February 7, 8, 9, and 11 from 11:45 AM to 1:15 PM
In-Person
For centuries, the goal of art was authenticity. Whatever the subject matter, it had to be clear, recognizable, and accurate. Suddenly, around the early 20th century, things changed dramatically. Instead of lucidity, increasing numbers of European painters resorted to ambiguous forms, broad swaths of unnatural color, and profound spatial ambiguity. According to one practitioner, “Art does not reproduce the visible; rather it makes visible.” To understand the complex issues behind this statement, this short course will focus on the life and careers of Abstraction’s earliest adherents: Hilma af Klint, Vasily Kandinsky, Kasimir Malevich, and Piet Mondrian.

954: Dynamic Ways of Looking at American Art and Culture

MARGERY GORDON
February 8-10 from 11:45 AM to 1:15 PM
Online
The course focuses on three central themes in American culture and the arts: American symbols of freedom and independence; family as a unique group that reflects the American spirit; and urban culture with new building, the Works Progress Administration, optimism and depression, and changes in communities with diverse populations.

This short course is a repeat with revisions. This study group has a large capacity.

Margery Gordon served as museum educator at Smithsonian’s American Art Museum (SAAM) and National Museum of Natural History (NMNH). She taught classes at DC schools, Howard University, OLLI, Assumption College, Corcoran School of Art, SAAM, Washington State University, and others. Margery presented talks and workshops on art and culture throughout the US, in the Dominican Republic, and the former Yugoslavia. She is the recipient of several grants and was highlighted in the book Museum People by Peggy Thomson. She was written up in the Washington Post, Denver Post, Asia Today, Worcester Telegram, and others. Presently her artworks are shown in several galleries and museums, and are in the permanent collections of the Washington Cancer and Dayton Art Institutes.

955: Introduction to Creative Stamping

MARGO HOPE
February 7-11 from 1:45 PM to 3:15 PM
In-Person
This class will offer participants an opportunity to learn how to use ink, rubber, and photopolymer stamps to create greeting cards, scrapbook pages, and 3-D projects. We will use kits, freestyle, and guided stamping techniques using a variety of crafting mediums. No experience is necessary to participate in this fun way to learn how to create gifts, greeting cards, and more to share with friends and family.

This course has a $40 materials fee, to be paid to the SGL. Please bring a check to the first class session, made out to Margo Hope.

956: 21st-Century Art

ARLETTE JASSEL
February 7-9 from 9:45 AM to 11:15 AM
Online
In the 20th century, we embraced abstract art. We looked at drips and blobs and tried to find meaning in color and distorted figures. We enjoyed enlarged cartoons and balloon dogs, steel cubes, and designs in the sand. In 21st-century art, those techniques and imagery may still be present but now they must tell a clear story. The notion of “art for art’s sake” is not so important. We will take a tour of 21st-century artists as they tell their stories using new and old technologies to create art they hope will change the world. This study group has a large capacity.

She is a retired MCPS art teacher and has taught at the Smithsonian, Georgetown Continuing Ed, and Marymount University.

GARY CAHN
January 31-February 3 from 1:45 PM to 3:15 PM
Online
The premiere event of the 2022 Olympics is figure skating. This course will help you understand and appreciate figure skating. We will devote most of our time to singles and pairs skating, and less time to dance. We’ll watch video of the top skaters who will be competing at the Olympics, as well as video of the most brilliant performances in figure skating history. You’ll learn to distinguish between a triple axel, double salchow, and single toe loop. We’ll discuss how performances are scored. Finally, you’ll get to watch a 2021 World Championship performance, and you’ll be asked to score one of the competitors.

KIM KOKICH
February 7-10 from 11:45 AM to 1:15 PM
In-Person
We will look at and talk about classical ballet and how it has grown and changed in the United States. We will talk about significant influences—such as the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo in the 1940s, and choreographers such as Agnes de Mille, George Balanchine, and Jerome Robbins. We will also see videos of some of the greatest dancers of the 20th century and talk about why they were great, even if they couldn’t leap nine feet into the air, stick their legs up to their ears, or spin 20 pirouettes without stopping. We will spend some time in the beginning reviewing what we know about ballet and why we are drawn to its beauty.

Kim Kokich was a scholarship student at the School of American Ballet in New York for eight years. She covered dance for NPR from 1986–2017, and taught ballet at The Washington School of Ballet and the Dance Institute of Washington. Her father was a soloist with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and her mother a Broadway actress.

960: Practice in Translating Latin
DIANA SMITH
February 14, 16, and 18 from 11:45 AM to 1:15 PM
Hybrid
This February Short will provide practice in translation for those students who have taken Latin for Curious Beginners in the fall semester. We will work on translating at sight, focusing on both original texts and workbook exercises. We will not be learning any new grammar except as unfamiliar constructions appear in the texts.
For those who want to put their rudimentary Latin to use, this short course could be good fun.

British history, illustrated with PowerPoint presentations. She also teaches classes with Susan Willens on the links between literature and history at Politics & Prose and at the Smithsonian.

963: Some Charles Simic Poems
RICHARD PALMER
February 14-18 from 1:45 PM to 3:15 PM
Online
Charles Simic is a prolific living American poet, essayist, former US Poet Laureate, and winner of Pulitzer, Wallace Stevens, and MacArthur awards, whose “shrug of bemused puzzlement before life’s anomalies” employs images of complexity, humor, and strangeness. Born in Serbia, he possesses a very American language and sensibility. We’ll consider 12 to 15 poems, with time to consider other Simic poems that resonate with or are suggested by members of the study group. Analysis will be personal and as technical as we can manage. Ability to download scanned and email-attached content will be useful; printed copies can be made available for those who need them.
This short course is a repeat.
Class Type: Reading and Discussion
Reading: Less than 1 hour/session
Richard R. Palmer is a retired psychiatrist capable of “a shrug of bemused puzzlement before life's anomalies.” He was not an English major. He has led many OLLI study groups.

964: Book and a Movie
BRUCE EISEN
February 7-11 from 1:45 PM to 3:15 PM
In-Person
We will consider two easily available short works: Ernest Hemingway’s The Snows of Kilimanjaro and John Cheever's The Swimmer. We will discuss the authors, character development, settings, and the times the works were written. Both stories will be followed by the relevant movie adaptation. We will compare the written work to the movie, discuss the aims of the movie makers, the acting performances, and the differences between the written work and the motion picture.
This short course is not a repeat.
Class Type: Reading and Discussion
Reading: 1-2 hours/session
Bruce Eisen has been an SGL for a number of semesters. His courses have included opera appreciation and discussions of J.D. Salinger, Kurt Vonnegut, Herman Hesse, Thomas Mann, and T.S. Eliot.

970: The Mexican Muralists—The Impact of Rivera, Orozco, and Siqueiros
LAWRENCE HEILMAN
February 14-18 from 9:45 AM to 11:15 AM
Online
This course will include the following presentations:
(1) The Setting: The Mexican Revolution of 1910
(2) Diego Rivera and Frida Kahlo
(3) Jose Clemente Orozco
(4) David Alfaro Siqueiros
(5) The Impact of the Mexican Muralist in the 20th and 21st Century

Larry Heilman has a PhD in history. He has taught Latin American history at various universities and undertaken archaeological fieldwork in Mexico, Spain, Florida, and California. Currently, he is a research associate in the Anthropology Department at the Natural History Museum of the Smithsonian, where his research is focused on the impact of US foreign assistance in Latin America. A recent publication of his is USAID in Bolivia: Partner or Patrón.

971: The Angkor Temples of Cambodia in the Modern Era: War, Pride, and Tourist Dollars
JOHN BURGESS
February 7-10 from 1:45 PM to 3:15 PM
Hybrid
This course will have four parts, each illustrated with photographs. Part one will present the history, culture, and architectural accomplishments of the empire that ruled much of Southeast Asia from roughly 800 AD to 1450 AD. Part two will explore efforts to recover Angkor's largely lost history through archaeological digs, aerial surveys, and the decoding of inscription stones. Part three will highlight work to protect the temples from the grave threats of invasive foliage, art theft, and shortcomings in design. Part four will examine the temples as a symbol of the modern Cambodian nation, military conflict around them during the country's three-decades-long war, and their transformation in recent years into a magnet for tourists.

John Burgess is the author of five books about Cambodia's Angkor civilization, builder of the world-famous Angkor Wat, and other stone monuments. He first saw the temples as a teenager in 1969. Following a career at The Washington Post, he researched the ancient and modern history of Angkor in Cambodia, France, and the US.

972: Black History Month Beyond Martin Luther King, Jr. and Rosa Parks
KAREN STEWART
February 7-10 from 9:45 AM to 11:15 AM
Online
This short course will profile a few heroes of Black history who rarely if ever get their story told in Black History Month. We will start with David Walker and Maria Stewart, two early abolitionists from New England, then Robert Smalls, a bit more famous, but a man whose story bears repeating. I have included two heroes from the 20th century who are not unknown but whose achievements are much wider than their fame. The first is A. Philip Randolph, who kept the civil rights movement alive during some very dark times in 20th-century America. Lastly, we will talk about Medgar Evers, who we all know because of how he died. He deserves more credit for how he lived. I am open to suggestions of more unsung heroes. This study group has a large capacity. This short course is not a repeat. Class Type: Lecture and Discussion Reading: Less than 1 hour/session Karen Stewart has been a Study Group Leader at OLLI for about six years. She has taught a variety of courses on race in America from 1619 to the 1960s. Her interest in the role of race in American history began post retirement. She is not sharing her long-standing expertise, but rather taking you along on her own journey of learning.

980: Elementary Logic

DON ROSS

February 14-18 from 11:45 AM to 1:15 PM
In-Person
This course will introduce the basic ideas of elementary logic. It will include the logic of terms, developed by Aristotle; the logic of propositions, developed by the Stoics; inductive logic, centering around Mill's methods; and informal fallacies, also first explored by Aristotle. This short course is not a repeat. Class Type: Lecture and Discussion Reading: No reading
Don Ross received his bachelor's degree in philosophy from Wake Forest University in 1970, his master's from the University of Iowa in 1972, and his doctorate from the University of Chicago in 1979. His publications include articles on ancient and medieval philosophy. He has also done work in Asian and modern European philosophy.

981: Introduction to Insight Mindfulness Meditation

KAREN NICOLE

February 14-18 from 9:45 AM to 10:45 AM
Online
Learn core teachings behind compassion-based, insight meditation. Four classes are 60 minutes each in length. The fifth class will be an optional longer Zoom retreat (meditations, practical mindfulness tips, Q&A). Some roots of mindfulness practice originated with Plum Village and Thich Nhat Hanh. In this Zoom class, the SGL will lead students in guided meditations and discussions on mindfulness, its history, and how to practice it. The class will explore some science behind mindfulness and how to incorporate mindfulness into daily living. You will be given resources to continue a meditation practice long after the course ends. This course is ideal for beginners and experienced practitioners interested in this meditation style. This short course is not a repeat. This course meets for one hour.
Class Type: Lecture and Discussion
Reading: Less than 1 hour/session
Karen Nicole, MA, is a mindfulness meditation leader and public speaker. She has practiced meditation for 14-plus years, largely with the Insight Meditation Community of Washington guiding teachers. She is certified in Mindfulness at Work through the Greater Good Science Center at UC Berkeley. She has practiced meditation online with Spirit Rock, Insight Meditation Society, and Plum Village.
